

Yusak Handianto: back then when i was in senior high school, i had a crush with my cousin. since it became an uproar in my family, we got separated for around 7 years till i met her again recently, i felt that i'm still loving her that much. is this normal? what should i do? does this mean that she was my first love?

kathy kate: I really fell in love with my cousin i fell stupid to think it because i fell am stubborn to liking my own cousin .. i know my feelings is not natural.. I didnt tell to every body except to my bff.. i want there advice but they didnt know that feelings so!! I always want to spend more time with him.. I want to be his girl friend but i know it will not happen because were cousin's and he is part of my family... NEED ADVICE!!?? :(

Alice: It is not wrong. Cousins can marry . This is a hate filled article.

Jessica: I totally married my second cousin and am due with our baby in a few weeks.

Khadija Fatima: @kathy kate, Listen uk the same thing happened to me..like I like my cousin a lot..and in our family everyone wanted us to get married..when we were really young..and now I'm 16 and he's 18 I reside in Dubai and He resides in New York..we met recently after 11 yrs..and I fell for him..but he didn't

Tyriana Shavon Mitchell: I have had a crush on my cousin since we were kids... our moms were going through some things... so we got separated for about 6 years... we met up again and now I'm like totally in love with him... I don't know if he feels the same way... he says he has a girlfriend... but I don't believe him... Is it weird that I'm like totally in love with him? I've been having dreams about him and everything... and I don't know if this is a sign or not but, he called me " Baby" and he's been " Trying to get in my pants" lately... I don't know what to do... but he acts like a whole different person around his parents, my mom, and , his friends and brothers. That's normal. Is it normal that I'm in love with my cousin, while in a loyal relationship with my boyfriend? I am like sooooo confused with myself.

Dasia: I started falling for my cousin when I was 6 and ever since I have been very loving to him. He even loves me back the same way, but he's too scared to try to form a relationship. So now I'm a little heart broken, but at least thanks to Heather I know how to deal with this situation that I'm in.

Gladis: I fell in love with my second cousin i didn't know until after we fell in love then we had to make that decision to stay together or break up eight years later here we are happy and together... love is love.

Isha Ahmad: I'm having a crush on my cousin since when I was just 7 years old and now this has been 7 years. I don't feel anything abnormal about it but it's just that he would never have a crush on me because he studies in the best school where he must be having a girlfriend and also he is the stud of his class. we barely talk now maybe because now we've grown up

Letmein123: @Lily Kay, OMG gurl I feel u I have a step dad and my cousin is from my step dad side of the family so I mean technically I can date him and I think he likes me back too lol #relatable #truestorybro

Zen: I love her since our childhood days, plays, time we used to spend together, things we used to share, minor or major fights between us and then compromising and apologizing, things were going well but suddenly there was a family conflict and we got separated , left with no medium to communicate as she was not on facebook at that time...after 6 years when we meet we become good friends and one day she tells me that she has a boyfriend, I was broken but didn't react negatively instead I cheered her up..all those 6 years I didn't date any girl but when she asked me about my love life I said " yeah I've been with 3-4 girls and got separated " I still don't have a girlfriend its not that I don't want to be with anyone now but I wanna see her

Yusak Handianto: back then when i was in senior high school, i had a crush with my cousin. since it became an uproar in my family, we got separated for around 7 years till i met her again recently, i felt that i'm still loving her that much. is this normal? what should i do? does this mean that she was my first love?

kathy kate: I really fell in love with my cousin i fell stupid to think it because i fell am stubborn to liking my own cousin .. i know my feelings is not natural.. I didnt tell to every body except to my bff.. i want there advice but they didnt know that feelings so!! I always want to spend more time with him.. I want to be his girl friend but i know it will not happen because were cousin's and he is part of my family... NEED ADVICE!!?? :(

Alice: It is not wrong. Cousins can marry . This is a hate filled article.

Jessica: I totally married my second cousin and am due with our baby in a few weeks.

Khadija Fatima: @kathy kate, Listen uk the same thing happened to me..like I like my cousin a lot..and in our family everyone wanted us to get married..when we were really young..and now I'm 16 and he's 18 I reside in Dubai and He resides in New York..we met recently after 11 yrs..and I fell for him..but he didn't

Tyriana Shavon Mitchell: I have had a crush on my cousin since we were kids... our moms were going through some things... so we got separated for about 6 years... we met up again and now I'm like totally in love with him... I don't know if he feels the same way... he says he has a girlfriend... but I don't believe him... Is it weird that I'm like totally in love with him? I've been having dreams about him and everything... and I don't know if this is a sign or not but, he called me " Baby" and he's been " Trying to get in my pants" lately... I don't know what to do... but he acts like a whole different person around his parents, my mom, and , his friends and brothers. That's normal. Is it normal that I'm in love with my cousin, while in a loyal relationship with my boyfriend? I am like sooooo confused with myself.

Dasia: I started falling for my cousin when I was 6 and ever since I have been very loving to him. He even loves me back the same way, but he's too scared to try to form a relationship. So now I'm a little heart broken, but at least thanks to Heather I know how to deal with this situation that I'm in.

Gladis: I fell in love with my second cousin i didn't know until after we fell in love then we had to make that decision to stay together or break up eight years later here we are happy and together... love is love.

Isha Ahmad: I'm having a crush on my cousin since when I was just 7 years old and now this has been 7 years. I don't feel anything abnormal about it but it's just that he would never have a crush on me because he studies in the best school where he must be having a girlfriend and also he is the stud of his class. we barely talk now maybe because now we've grown up

Letmein123: @Lily Kay, OMG gurl I feel u I have a step dad and my cousin is from my step dad side of the family so I mean technically I can date him and I think he likes me back too lol #relatable #truestorybro

Zen: I love her since our childhood days, plays, time we used to spend together, things we used to share, minor or major fights between us and then compromising and apologizing, things were going well but suddenly there was a family conflict and we got separated , left with no medium to communicate as she was not on facebook at that time...after 6 years when we meet we become good friends and one day she tells me that she has a boyfriend, I was broken but didn't react negatively instead I cheered her up..all those 6 years I didn't date any girl but when she asked me about my love life I said " yeah I've been with 3-4 girls and got separated " I still don't have a girlfriend its not that I don't want to be with anyone now but I wanna see her

yusak Handianto: back then when i was in senior high school, i had a crush with my cousin. since it became an uproar in my family, we got separated for around 7 years till i met her again recently, i felt that i'm still loving her that much. is this normal? what should i do? does this mean that she was my first love?

kathy kate: I really fell in love with my cousin i fell stupid to think it because i fell am stubborn to liking my own cousin .. i know my feelings is not natural.. I didnt tell to every body except to my bff.. i want there advice but they didnt know that feelings so!! I always want to spend more time with him.. I want to be his girl friend but i know it will not happen because were cousin's and he is part of my family... NEED ADVICE!!?? :(

Alice: It is not wrong. Cousins can marry . This is a hate filled article.

Jessica: I totally married my second cousin and am due with our baby in a few weeks.

Khadija Fatima: @kathy kate, Listen uk the same thing happened to me..like I like my cousin a lot..and in our family everyone wanted us to get married..when we were really young..and now I'm 16 and he's 18 I reside in Dubai and He resides in New York..we met recently after 11 yrs..and I fell for him..but he didn't

Tyriana Shavon Mitchell: I have had a crush on my cousin since we were kids... our moms were going through some things... so we got separated for about 6 years... we met up again and now I'm like totally in love with him... I don't know if he feels the same way... he says he has a girlfriend... but I don't believe him... Is it weird that I'm like totally in love with him? I've been having dreams about him and everything... and I don't know if this is a sign or not but, he called me " Baby" and he's been " Trying to get in my pants" lately... I don't know what to do... but he acts like a whole different person around his parents, my mom, and , his friends and brothers. That's normal. Is it normal that I'm in love with my cousin, while in a loyal relationship with my boyfriend? I am like sooooo confused with myself.

Dasia: I started falling for my cousin when I was 6 and ever since I have been very loving to him. He even loves me back the same way, but he's too scared to try to form a relationship. So now I'm a little heart broken, but at least thanks to Heather I know how to deal with this situation that I'm in.

Gladis: I fell in love with my second cousin i didn't know until after we fell in love then we had to make that decision to stay together or break up eight years later here we are happy and together... love is love.

Isha Ahmad: I'm having a crush on my cousin since when I was just 7 years old and now this has been 7 years. I don't feel anything abnormal about it but it's just that he would never have a crush on me because he studies in the best school where he must be having a girlfriend and also he is the stud of his class. we barely talk now maybe because now we've grown up

Letmein123: @Lily Kay, OMG gurl I feel u I have a step dad and my cousin is from my step dad side of the family so I mean technically I can date him and I think he likes me back too lol #relatable #truestorybro

Zen: I love her since our childhood days, plays, time we used to spend together, things we used to share, minor or major fights between us and then compromising and apologizing, things were going well but suddenly there was a family conflict and we got separated , left with no medium to communicate as she was not on facebook at that time...after 6 years when we meet we become good friends and one day she tells me that she has a boyfriend, I was broken but didn't react negatively instead I cheered her up..all those 6 years I didn't date any girl but when she asked me about my love life I said " yeah I've been with 3-4 girls and got separated " I still don't have a girlfriend its not that I don't want to be with anyone now but I wanna see her

Yusak Handianto: back then when i was in senior high school, i had a crush with my cousin. since it became an uproar in my family, we got separated for around 7 years till i met her again recently, i felt that i'm still loving her that much. is this normal? what should i do? does this mean that she was my first love?

kathy kate: I really fell in love with my cousin i fell stupid to think it because i fell am stubborn to liking my own cousin .. i know my feelings is not natural.. I didnt tell to every body except to my bff.. i want there advice but they didnt know that feelings so!! I always want to spend more time with him.. I want to be his girl friend but i know it will not happen because were cousin's and he is part of my family... NEED ADVICE!!?? :(

Alice: It is not wrong. Cousins can marry . This is a hate filled article.

Jessica: I totally married my second cousin and am due with our baby in a few weeks.

Khadija Fatima: @kathy kate, Listen uk the same thing happened to me..like I like my cousin a lot..and in our family everyone wanted us to get married..when we were really young..and now I'm 16 and he's 18 I reside in Dubai and He resides in New York..we met recently after 11 yrs..and I fell for him..but he didn't

Tyriana Shavon Mitchell: I have had a crush on my cousin since we were kids... our moms were going through some things... so we got separated for about 6 years... we met up again and now I'm like totally in love with him... I don't know if he feels the same way... he says he has a girlfriend... but I don't believe him... Is it weird that I'm like totally in love with him? I've been having dreams about him and everything... and I don't know if this is a sign or not but, he called me " Baby" and he's been " Trying to get in my pants" lately... I don't know what to do... but he acts like a whole different person around his parents, my mom, and , his friends and brothers. That's normal. Is it normal that I'm in love with my cousin, while in a loyal relationship with my boyfriend? I am like sooooo confused with myself.

Dasia: I started falling for my cousin when I was 6 and ever since I have been very loving to him. He even loves me back the same way, but he's too scared to try to form a relationship. So now I'm a little heart broken, but at least thanks to Heather I know how to deal with this situation that I'm in.

Gladis: I fell in love with my second cousin i didn't know until after we fell in love then we had to make that decision to stay together or break up eight years later here we are happy and together... love is love.

Isha Ahmad: I'm having a crush on my cousin since when I was just 7 years old and now this has been 7 years. I don't feel anything abnormal about it but it's just that he would never have a crush on me because he studies in the best school where he must be having a girlfriend and also he is the stud of his class. we barely talk now maybe because now we've grown up

Letmein123: @Lily Kay, OMG gurl I feel u I have a step dad and my cousin is from my step dad side of the family so I mean technically I can date him and I think he likes me back too lol #relatable #truestorybro

Zen: I love her since our childhood days, plays, time we used to spend together, things we used to share, minor or major fights between us and then compromising and apologizing, things were going well but suddenly there was a family conflict and we got separated , left with no medium to communicate as she was not on facebook at that time...after 6 years when we meet we become good friends and one day she tells me that she has a boyfriend, I was broken but didn't react negatively instead I cheered her up..all those 6 years I didn't date any girl but when she asked me about my love life I said " yeah I've been with 3-4 girls and got separated " I still don't have a girlfriend its not that I don't want to be with anyone now but I wanna see her

Yusak Handianto: back then when i was in senior high school, i had a crush with my cousin. since it became an uproar in my family, we got separated for around 7 years till i met her again recently, i felt that i'm still loving her that much. is this normal? what should i do? does this mean that she was my first love?

kathy kate: I really fell in love with my cousin i fell stupid to think it because i fell am stubborn to liking my own cousin .. i know my feelings is not natural.. I didnt tell to every body except to my bff.. i want there advice but they didnt know that feelings so!! I always want to spend more time with him.. I want to be his girl friend but i know it will not happen because were cousin's and he is part of my family... NEED ADVICE!!?? :(

Alice: It is not wrong. Cousins can marry . This is a hate filled article.

Jessica: I totally married my second cousin and am due with our baby in a few weeks.

Khadija Fatima: @kathy kate, Listen uk the same thing happened to me..like I like my cousin a lot..and in our family everyone wanted us to get married..when we were really young..and now I'm 16 and he's 18 I reside in Dubai and He resides in New York..we met recently after 11 yrs..and I fell for him..but he didn't

Tyriana Shavon Mitchell: I have had a crush on my cousin since we were kids... our moms were going through some things... so we got separated for about 6 years... we met up again and now I'm like totally in love with him... I don't know if he feels the same way... he says he has a girlfriend... but I don't believe him... Is it weird that I'm like totally in love with him? I've been having dreams about him and everything... and I don't know if this is a sign or not but, he called me " Baby" and he's been " Trying to get in my pants" lately... I don't know what to do... but he acts like a whole different person around his parents, my mom, and , his friends and brothers. That's normal. Is it normal that I'm in love with my cousin, while in a loyal relationship with my boyfriend? I am like sooooo confused with myself.

Dasia: I started falling for my cousin when I was 6 and ever since I have been very loving to him. He even loves me back the same way, but he's too scared to try to form a relationship. So now I'm a little heart broken, but at least thanks to Heather I know how to deal with this situation that I'm in.

Gladis: I fell in love with my second cousin i didn't know until after we fell in love then we had to make that decision to stay together or break up eight years later here we are happy and together... love is love.

Isha Ahmad: I'm having a crush on my cousin since when I was just 7 years old and now this has been 7 years. I don't feel anything abnormal about it but it's just that he would never have a crush on me because he studies in the best school where he must be having a girlfriend and also he is the stud of his class. we barely talk now maybe because now we've grown up

Letmein123: @Lily Kay, OMG gurl I feel u I have a step dad and my cousin is from my step dad side of the family so I mean technically I can date him and I think he likes me back too lol #relatable #truestorybro

Zen: I love her since our childhood days, plays, time we used to spend together, things we used to share, minor or major fights between us and then compromising and apologizing, things were going well but suddenly there was a family conflict and we got separated , left with no medium to communicate as she was not on facebook at that time...after 6 years when we meet we become good friends and one day she tells me that she has a boyfriend, I was broken but didn't react negatively instead I cheered her up..all those 6 years I didn't date any girl but when she asked me about my love life I said " yeah I've been with 3-4 girls and got separated " I still don't have a girlfriend its not that I don't want to be with anyone now but I wanna see her

yusak Handianto: back then when i was in senior nigh school, i had a crush with my cousin. since it became an uproar in my family, we got separated for around 7 years till i met her again recently, i felt that i'm still loving her that much. is this normal? what should i do? does this mean that she was my first love?

kathy kate: I really fell in love with my cousin i fell stupid to think it because i fell iam stubborn to liking my own cousin .. i know my feelings is not natural.. I didnt tell to every body except to my bff.. i want there advice but they didnt know that feelings so!! I always want to spend more time with him.. I want to be his girl friend but i know it will not happen because were cousin's and he is part of my family... NEED ADVICE!!?? :(

Alice: It is not wrong. Cousins can marry . This is a hate filled article.

Jessica: I totally married my second cousin and am due with our baby in a few weeks.

Khadija Fatima: @kathy kate, Listen uk the same thing happened to me..like I like my cousin a lot..and in our family everyone wanted us to get married..when we were really young..and now I'm 16 and he's 18 I reside in Dubai and He resides in New York..we met recently after 11 yrs..and I fell for him..but he didn't

Tyriana Shavon Mitchell: I have had a crush on my cuzin since we were kids... our moms were going through some things... so we're got seperated for about 6 years... we met up again and now I'm like totally in love with him... I dont know if he feels the same way... he says he has a girlfriend... but i dont believe him... Is it weird that im like totally in love with him? Ive been haveing dreams about him and everything... and i dont know if this is a sign or not but, he called me " Baby" and he's been " TRying to get in my pants" lately... i dont know what to do... but he acts like a whole different person around his parents, my mom, and , his friends and brothers. Thats normal. Is it normal that im in love with my cousin, while in a loyal relashionship with my boyfriend? I am like sooooo confused with myself.

Dasia: I started falling for my cousin when I was 6 and ever since I have been very loving to him. He even loves me back the same way, but he's too scared to try to form a relationship. So now I'm a little heart broken, but at least thanks to Heather I know how to deal with this situation that I'm in.

Gladis: I fell in love with my second cousin i didnt know until after we fell in love then we had to make that decision to stay together or break up eight years later here we are happy and together... love is love.

Isha Ahmad: i'm having a crush on my cousin since when i was just 7 years old and now this has been 7 years. i don't feel anything abnormal about it but it's just that he would never have a crush on me because he studies in the best school where he must be having a girlfriend and also he is the stud of his class. we barely talk now maybe because now we've grown up

Letmein123: @Lily Kay, OMG gurl I feel u I have a step dad and my cousin is from my step dad side of the family so I mean technically I can date him and I think he likes me back too lol #relatable #truestorybro

Zen: i love her since our childhood days, plays, time we used to spend together, things we used to share, minor or major fights between us and then compromising and apologizing, things were going well but suddenly there was a family conflict and we got separated , left with no medium to communicate as she was not on facebook at that time...after 6 years when we meet we become good friends and one day she tells me that she has a boyfriend, i was broken but didn't reacted negatively instead i cheered her up..all those 6 years i didn't date any girl but when she asked me about my love life i said " yeah i've been with 3-4 girls and got separated " i still don't have a girlfriend its not that i don't want to be with anyone now but i wanna see her

yusak Handianto: back then when i was in senior high school, i had a crush with my cousin. since it became an uproar in my family, we got separated for around 7 years till i met her again recently, i felt that i'm still loving her that much. is this normal? what should i do? does this mean that she was my first love?

kathy kate: I really fell in love with my cousin i fell stupid to think it because i fell am stubborn to liking my own cousin .. i know my feelings is not natural.. I didnt tell to every body except to my bff.. i want there advice but they didnt know that feelings so!! I always want to spend more time with him.. I want to be his girl friend but i know it will not happen because were cousin's and he is part of my family... NEED ADVICE!!?? :(

Alice: It is not wrong. Cousins can marry . This is a hate filled article.

Jessica: I totally married my second cousin and am due with our baby in a few weeks.

Khadija Fatima: @kathy kate, Listen uk the same thing happened to me..like I like my cousin a lot..and in our family everyone wanted us to get married..when we were really young..and now I'm 16 and he's 18 I reside in Dubai and He resides in New York..we met recently after 11 yrs..and I fell for him..but he didn't

Tyriana Shavon Mitchell: I have had a crush on my cousin since we were kids... our moms were going through some things... so we got separated for about 6 years... we met up again and now I'm like totally in love with him... I don't know if he feels the same way... he says he has a girlfriend... but I don't believe him... Is it weird that I'm like totally in love with him? I've been having dreams about him and everything... and I don't know if this is a sign or not but, he called me " Baby" and he's been " Trying to get in my pants" lately... I don't know what to do... but he acts like a whole different person around his parents, my mom, and , his friends and brothers. That's normal. Is it normal that I'm in love with my cousin, while in a loyal relationship with my boyfriend? I am like sooooo confused with myself.

Dasia: I started falling for my cousin when I was 6 and ever since I have been very loving to him. He even loves me back the same way, but he's too scared to try to form a relationship. So now I'm a little heart broken, but at least thanks to Heather I know how to deal with this situation that I'm in.

Gladis: I fell in love with my second cousin i didn't know until after we fell in love then we had to make that decision to stay together or break up eight years later here we are happy and together... love is love.

Isha Ahmad: I'm having a crush on my cousin since when I was just 7 years old and now this has been 7 years. I don't feel anything abnormal about it but it's just that he would never have a crush on me because he studies in the best school where he must be having a girlfriend and also he is the stud of his class. we barely talk now maybe because now we've grown up

Letmein123: @Lily Kay, OMG gurl I feel u I have a step dad and my cousin is from my step dad side of the family so I mean technically I can date him and I think he likes me back too lol #relatable #truestorybro

Zen: I love her since our childhood days, plays, time we used to spend together, things we used to share, minor or major fights between us and then compromising and apologizing, things were going well but suddenly there was a family conflict and we got separated , left with no medium to communicate as she was not on facebook at that time...after 6 years when we meet we become good friends and one day she tells me that she has a boyfriend, I was broken but didn't react negatively instead I cheered her up..all those 6 years I didn't date any girl but when she asked me about my love life I said " yeah I've been with 3-4 girls and got separated " I still don't have a girlfriend its not that I don't want to be with anyone now but I wanna see her

Yusak Handianto: back then when i was in senior high school, i had a crush with my cousin. since it became an uproar in my family, we got separated for around 7 years till i met her again recently, i felt that i'm still loving her that much. is this normal? what should i do? does this mean that she was my first love?

kathy kate: I really fell in love with my cousin i fell stupid to think it because i fell am stubborn to liking my own cousin .. i know my feelings is not natural.. I didnt tell to every body except to my bff.. i want there advice but they didnt know that feelings so!! I always want to spend more time with him.. I want to be his girl friend but i know it will not happen because were cousin's and he is part of my family... NEED ADVICE!!?? :(

Alice: It is not wrong. Cousins can marry . This is a hate filled article.

Jessica: I totally married my second cousin and am due with our baby in a few weeks.

Khadija Fatima: @kathy kate, Listen uk the same thing happened to me..like I like my cousin a lot..and in our family everyone wanted us to get married..when we were really young..and now I'm 16 and he's 18 I reside in Dubai and He resides in New York..we met recently after 11 yrs..and I fell for him..but he didn't

Tyriana Shavon Mitchell: I have had a crush on my cousin since we were kids... our moms were going through some things... so we got separated for about 6 years... we met up again and now I'm like totally in love with him... I don't know if he feels the same way... he says he has a girlfriend... but I don't believe him... Is it weird that I'm like totally in love with him? I've been having dreams about him and everything... and I don't know if this is a sign or not but, he called me " Baby" and he's been " Trying to get in my pants" lately... I don't know what to do... but he acts like a whole different person around his parents, my mom, and , his friends and brothers. That's normal. Is it normal that I'm in love with my cousin, while in a loyal relationship with my boyfriend? I am like sooooo confused with myself.

Dasia: I started falling for my cousin when I was 6 and ever since I have been very loving to him. He even loves me back the same way, but he's too scared to try to form a relationship. So now I'm a little heart broken, but at least thanks to Heather I know how to deal with this situation that I'm in.

Gladis: I fell in love with my second cousin i didn't know until after we fell in love then we had to make that decision to stay together or break up eight years later here we are happy and together... love is love.

Isha Ahmad: I'm having a crush on my cousin since when I was just 7 years old and now this has been 7 years. I don't feel anything abnormal about it but it's just that he would never have a crush on me because he studies in the best school where he must be having a girlfriend and also he is the stud of his class. we barely talk now maybe because now we've grown up

Letmein123: @Lily Kay, OMG gurl I feel u I have a step dad and my cousin is from my step dad side of the family so I mean technically I can date him and I think he likes me back too lol #relatable #truestorybro

Zen: I love her since our childhood days, plays, time we used to spend together, things we used to share, minor or major fights between us and then compromising and apologizing, things were going well but suddenly there was a family conflict and we got separated , left with no medium to communicate as she was not on facebook at that time...after 6 years when we meet we become good friends and one day she tells me that she has a boyfriend, I was broken but didn't react negatively instead I cheered her up..all those 6 years I didn't date any girl but when she asked me about my love life I said " yeah I've been with 3-4 girls and got separated " I still don't have a girlfriend its not that I don't want to be with anyone now but I wanna see her

yusak Handianto: back then when i was in senior high school, i had a crush with my cousin. since it became an uproar in my family, we got separated for around 7 years till i met her again recently, i felt that i'm still loving her that much. is this normal? what should i do? does this mean that she was my first love?

kathy kate: I really fell in love with my cousin i fell stupid to think it because i fell am stubborn to liking my own cousin .. i know my feelings is not natural.. I didnt tell to every body except to my bff.. i want there advice but they didnt know that feelings so!! I always want to spend more time with him.. I want to be his girl friend but i know it will not happen because were cousin's and he is part of my family... NEED ADVICE!!?? :(

Alice: It is not wrong. Cousins can marry . This is a hate filled article.

Jessica: I totally married my second cousin and am due with our baby in a few weeks.

Khadija Fatima: @kathy kate, Listen uk the same thing happened to me..like I like my cousin a lot..and in our family everyone wanted us to get married..when we were really young..and now I'm 16 and he's 18 I reside in Dubai and He resides in New York..we met recently after 11 yrs..and I fell for him..but he didn't

Tyriana Shavon Mitchell: I have had a crush on my cousin since we were kids... our moms were going through some things... so we got separated for about 6 years... we met up again and now I'm like totally in love with him... I don't know if he feels the same way... he says he has a girlfriend... but I don't believe him... Is it weird that I'm like totally in love with him? I've been having dreams about him and everything... and I don't know if this is a sign or not but, he called me " Baby" and he's been " Trying to get in my pants" lately... I don't know what to do... but he acts like a whole different person around his parents, my mom, and , his friends and brothers. That's normal. Is it normal that I'm in love with my cousin, while in a loyal relationship with my boyfriend? I am like sooooo confused with myself.

Dasia: I started falling for my cousin when I was 6 and ever since I have been very loving to him. He even loves me back the same way, but he's too scared to try to form a relationship. So now I'm a little heart broken, but at least thanks to Heather I know how to deal with this situation that I'm in.

Gladis: I fell in love with my second cousin i didn't know until after we fell in love then we had to make that decision to stay together or break up eight years later here we are happy and together... love is love.

Isha Ahmad: I'm having a crush on my cousin since when I was just 7 years old and now this has been 7 years. I don't feel anything abnormal about it but it's just that he would never have a crush on me because he studies in the best school where he must be having a girlfriend and also he is the stud of his class. we barely talk now maybe because now we've grown up

Letmein123: @Lily Kay, OMG gurl I feel u I have a step dad and my cousin is from my step dad side of the family so I mean technically I can date him and I think he likes me back too lol #relatable #truestorybro

Zen: I love her since our childhood days, plays, time we used to spend together, things we used to share, minor or major fights between us and then compromising and apologizing, things were going well but suddenly there was a family conflict and we got separated , left with no medium to communicate as she was not on facebook at that time...after 6 years when we meet we become good friends and one day she tells me that she has a boyfriend, I was broken but didn't react negatively instead I cheered her up..all those 6 years I didn't date any girl but when she asked me about my love life I said " yeah I've been with 3-4 girls and got separated " I still don't have a girlfriend its not that I don't want to be with anyone now but I wanna see her

yusak Handianto: back then when i was in senior high school, i had a crush with my cousin. since it became an uproar in my family, we got separated for around 7 years till i met her again recently, i felt that i'm still loving her that much. is this normal? what should i do? does this mean that she was my first love?

kathy kate: I really fell in love with my cousin i fell stupid to think it because i fell am stubborn to liking my own cousin .. i know my feelings is not natural.. I didnt tell to every body except to my bff.. i want there advice but they didnt know that feelings so!! I always want to spend more time with him.. I want to be his girl friend but i know it will not happen because were cousin's and he is part of my family... NEED ADVICE!!?? :(

Alice: It is not wrong. Cousins can marry . This is a hate filled article.

Jessica: I totally married my second cousin and am due with our baby in a few weeks.

Khadija Fatima: @kathy kate, Listen uk the same thing happened to me..like I like my cousin a lot..and in our family everyone wanted us to get married..when we were really young..and now I'm 16 and he's 18 I reside in Dubai and He resides in New York..we met recently after 11 yrs..and I fell for him..but he didn't

Tyriana Shavon Mitchell: I have had a crush on my cousin since we were kids... our moms were going through some things... so we got separated for about 6 years... we met up again and now I'm like totally in love with him... I don't know if he feels the same way... he says he has a girlfriend... but I don't believe him... Is it weird that I'm like totally in love with him? I've been having dreams about him and everything... and I don't know if this is a sign or not but, he called me " Baby" and he's been " Trying to get in my pants" lately... I don't know what to do... but he acts like a whole different person around his parents, my mom, and , his friends and brothers. That's normal. Is it normal that I'm in love with my cousin, while in a loyal relationship with my boyfriend? I am like sooooo confused with myself.

Dasia: I started falling for my cousin when I was 6 and ever since I have been very loving to him. He even loves me back the same way, but he's too scared to try to form a relationship. So now I'm a little heart broken, but at least thanks to Heather I know how to deal with this situation that I'm in.

Gladis: I fell in love with my second cousin i didn't know until after we fell in love then we had to make that decision to stay together or break up eight years later here we are happy and together... love is love.

Isha Ahmad: I'm having a crush on my cousin since when I was just 7 years old and now this has been 7 years. I don't feel anything abnormal about it but it's just that he would never have a crush on me because he studies in the best school where he must be having a girlfriend and also he is the stud of his class. we barely talk now maybe because now we've grown up

Letmein123: @Lily Kay, OMG gurl I feel u I have a step dad and my cousin is from my step dad side of the family so I mean technically I can date him and I think he likes me back too lol #relatable #truestorybro

Zen: I love her since our childhood days, plays, time we used to spend together, things we used to share, minor or major fights between us and then compromising and apologizing, things were going well but suddenly there was a family conflict and we got separated , left with no medium to communicate as she was not on facebook at that time...after 6 years when we meet we become good friends and one day she tells me that she has a boyfriend, I was broken but didn't react negatively instead I cheered her up..all those 6 years I didn't date any girl but when she asked me about my love life I said " yeah I've been with 3-4 girls and got separated " I still don't have a girlfriend its not that I don't want to be with anyone now but I wanna see her

yusak Handianto: back then when i was in senior high school, i had a crush with my cousin. since it became an uproar in my family, we got separated for around 7 years till i met her again recently, i felt that i'm still loving her that much. is this normal? what should i do? does this mean that she was my first love?

kathy kate: I really fell in love with my cousin i fell stupid to think it because i fell am stubborn to liking my own cousin .. i know my feelings is not natural.. I didnt tell to every body except to my bff.. i want there advice but they didnt know that feelings so!! I always want to spend more time with him.. I want to be his girl friend but i know it will not happen because were cousin's and he is part of my family... NEED ADVICE!!?? :(

Alice: It is not wrong. Cousins can marry . This is a hate filled article.

Jessica: I totally married my second cousin and am due with our baby in a few weeks.

Khadija Fatima: @kathy kate, Listen uk the same thing happened to me..like I like my cousin a lot..and in our family everyone wanted us to get married..when we were really young..and now I'm 16 and he's 18 I reside in Dubai and He resides in New York..we met recently after 11 yrs..and I fell for him..but he didn't

Tyriana Shavon Mitchell: I have had a crush on my cousin since we were kids... our moms were going through some things... so we got separated for about 6 years... we met up again and now I'm like totally in love with him... I don't know if he feels the same way... he says he has a girlfriend... but I don't believe him... Is it weird that I'm like totally in love with him? I've been having dreams about him and everything... and I don't know if this is a sign or not but, he called me " Baby" and he's been " Trying to get in my pants" lately... I don't know what to do... but he acts like a whole different person around his parents, my mom, and , his friends and brothers. That's normal. Is it normal that I'm in love with my cousin, while in a loyal relationship with my boyfriend? I am like sooooo confused with myself.

Dasia: I started falling for my cousin when I was 6 and ever since I have been very loving to him. He even loves me back the same way, but he's too scared to try to form a relationship. So now I'm a little heart broken, but at least thanks to Heather I know how to deal with this situation that I'm in.

Gladis: I fell in love with my second cousin i didn't know until after we fell in love then we had to make that decision to stay together or break up eight years later here we are happy and together... love is love.

Isha Ahmad: I'm having a crush on my cousin since when I was just 7 years old and now this has been 7 years. I don't feel anything abnormal about it but it's just that he would never have a crush on me because he studies in the best school where he must be having a girlfriend and also he is the stud of his class. we barely talk now maybe because now we've grown up

Letmein123: @Lily Kay, OMG gurl I feel u I have a step dad and my cousin is from my step dad side of the family so I mean technically I can date him and I think he likes me back too lol #relatable #truestorybro

Zen: I love her since our childhood days, plays, time we used to spend together, things we used to share, minor or major fights between us and then compromising and apologizing, things were going well but suddenly there was a family conflict and we got separated , left with no medium to communicate as she was not on facebook at that time...after 6 years when we meet we become good friends and one day she tells me that she has a boyfriend, I was broken but didn't react negatively instead I cheered her up..all those 6 years I didn't date any girl but when she asked me about my love life I said " yeah I've been with 3-4 girls and got separated " I still don't have a girlfriend its not that I don't want to be with anyone now but I wanna see her

yusak Handianto: back then when i was in senior high school, i had a crush with my cousin. since it became an uproar in my family, we got separated for around 7 years till i met her again recently, i felt that i'm still loving her that much. is this normal? what should i do? does this mean that she was my first love?

kathy kate: I really fell in love with my cousin i fell stupid to think it because i fell am stubborn to liking my own cousin .. i know my feelings is not natural.. I didnt tell to every body except to my bff.. i want there advice but they didnt know that feelings so!! I always want to spend more time with him.. I want to be his girl friend but i know it will not happen because were cousin's and he is part of my family... NEED ADVICE!!?? :(

Alice: It is not wrong. Cousins can marry . This is a hate filled article.

Jessica: I totally married my second cousin and am due with our baby in a few weeks.

Khadija Fatima: @kathy kate, Listen uk the same thing happened to me..like I like my cousin a lot..and in our family everyone wanted us to get married..when we were really young..and now I'm 16 and he's 18 I reside in Dubai and He resides in New York..we met recently after 11 yrs..and I fell for him..but he didn't

Tyriana Shavon Mitchell: I have had a crush on my cousin since we were kids... our moms were going through some things... so we got separated for about 6 years... we met up again and now I'm like totally in love with him... I don't know if he feels the same way... he says he has a girlfriend... but I don't believe him... Is it weird that I'm like totally in love with him? I've been having dreams about him and everything... and I don't know if this is a sign or not but, he called me " Baby" and he's been " Trying to get in my pants" lately... I don't know what to do... but he acts like a whole different person around his parents, my mom, and , his friends and brothers. That's normal. Is it normal that I'm in love with my cousin, while in a loyal relationship with my boyfriend? I am like sooooo confused with myself.

Dasia: I started falling for my cousin when I was 6 and ever since I have been very loving to him. He even loves me back the same way, but he's too scared to try to form a relationship. So now I'm a little heart broken, but at least thanks to Heather I know how to deal with this situation that I'm in.

Gladis: I fell in love with my second cousin i didn't know until after we fell in love then we had to make that decision to stay together or break up eight years later here we are happy and together... love is love.

Isha Ahmad: I'm having a crush on my cousin since when I was just 7 years old and now this has been 7 years. I don't feel anything abnormal about it but it's just that he would never have a crush on me because he studies in the best school where he must be having a girlfriend and also he is the stud of his class. we barely talk now maybe because now we've grown up

Letmein123: @Lily Kay, OMG gurl I feel u I have a step dad and my cousin is from my step dad side of the family so I mean technically I can date him and I think he likes me back too lol #relatable #truestorybro

Zen: I love her since our childhood days, plays, time we used to spend together, things we used to share, minor or major fights between us and then compromising and apologizing, things were going well but suddenly there was a family conflict and we got separated , left with no medium to communicate as she was not on facebook at that time...after 6 years when we meet we become good friends and one day she tells me that she has a boyfriend, I was broken but didn't react negatively instead I cheered her up..all those 6 years I didn't date any girl but when she asked me about my love life I said " yeah I've been with 3-4 girls and got separated " I still don't have a girlfriend its not that I don't want to be with anyone now but I wanna see her

Yusak Handianto: back then when i was in senior high school, i had a crush with my cousin. since it became an uproar in my family, we got separated for around 7 years till i met her again recently, i felt that i'm still loving her that much. is this normal? what should i do? does this mean that she was my first love?

kathy kate: I really fell in love with my cousin i fell stupid to think it because i fell am stubborn to liking my own cousin .. i know my feelings is not natural.. I didnt tell to every body except to my bff.. i want there advice but they didnt know that feelings so!! I always want to spend more time with him.. I want to be his girl friend but i know it will not happen because were cousin's and he is part of my family... NEED ADVICE!!?? :(

Alice: It is not wrong. Cousins can marry . This is a hate filled article.

Jessica: I totally married my second cousin and am due with our baby in a few weeks.

Khadija Fatima: @kathy kate, Listen uk the same thing happened to me..like I like my cousin a lot..and in our family everyone wanted us to get married..when we were really young..and now I'm 16 and he's 18 I reside in Dubai and He resides in New York..we met recently after 11 yrs..and I fell for him..but he didn't

Tyriana Shavon Mitchell: I have had a crush on my cousin since we were kids... our moms were going through some things... so we got separated for about 6 years... we met up again and now I'm like totally in love with him... I don't know if he feels the same way... he says he has a girlfriend... but I don't believe him... Is it weird that I'm like totally in love with him? I've been having dreams about him and everything... and I don't know if this is a sign or not but, he called me " Baby" and he's been " Trying to get in my pants" lately... I don't know what to do... but he acts like a whole different person around his parents, my mom, and , his friends and brothers. That's normal. Is it normal that I'm in love with my cousin, while in a loyal relationship with my boyfriend? I am like sooooo confused with myself.

Dasia: I started falling for my cousin when I was 6 and ever since I have been very loving to him. He even loves me back the same way, but he's too scared to try to form a relationship. So now I'm a little heart broken, but at least thanks to Heather I know how to deal with this situation that I'm in.

Gladis: I fell in love with my second cousin i didn't know until after we fell in love then we had to make that decision to stay together or break up eight years later here we are happy and together... love is love.

Isha Ahmad: I'm having a crush on my cousin since when I was just 7 years old and now this has been 7 years. I don't feel anything abnormal about it but it's just that he would never have a crush on me because he studies in the best school where he must be having a girlfriend and also he is the stud of his class. we barely talk now maybe because now we've grown up

Letmein123: @Lily Kay, OMG gurl I feel u I have a step dad and my cousin is from my step dad side of the family so I mean technically I can date him and I think he likes me back too lol #relatable #truestorybro

Zen: I love her since our childhood days, plays, time we used to spend together, things we used to share, minor or major fights between us and then compromising and apologizing, things were going well but suddenly there was a family conflict and we got separated , left with no medium to communicate as she was not on facebook at that time...after 6 years when we meet we become good friends and one day she tells me that she has a boyfriend, I was broken but didn't react negatively instead I cheered her up..all those 6 years I didn't date any girl but when she asked me about my love life I said " yeah I've been with 3-4 girls and got separated " I still don't have a girlfriend its not that I don't want to be with anyone now but I wanna see her

yusak Handianto: back then when i was in senior high school, i had a crush with my cousin. since it became an uproar in my family, we got separated for around 7 years till i met her again recently, i felt that i'm still loving her that much. is this normal? what should i do? does this mean that she was my first love?

kathy kate: I really fell in love with my cousin i fell stupid to think it because i fell am stubborn to liking my own cousin .. i know my feelings is not natural.. I didnt tell to every body except to my bff.. i want there advice but they didnt know that feelings so!! I always want to spend more time with him.. I want to be his girl friend but i know it will not happen because were cousin's and he is part of my family... NEED ADVICE!!?? :(

Alice: It is not wrong. Cousins can marry . This is a hate filled article.

Jessica: I totally married my second cousin and am due with our baby in a few weeks.

Khadija Fatima: @kathy kate, Listen uk the same thing happened to me..like I like my cousin a lot..and in our family everyone wanted us to get married..when we were really young..and now I'm 16 and he's 18 I reside in Dubai and He resides in New York..we met recently after 11 yrs..and I fell for him..but he didn't

Tyriana Shavon Mitchell: I have had a crush on my cousin since we were kids... our moms were going through some things... so we got separated for about 6 years... we met up again and now I'm like totally in love with him... I don't know if he feels the same way... he says he has a girlfriend... but I don't believe him... Is it weird that I'm like totally in love with him? I've been having dreams about him and everything... and I don't know if this is a sign or not but, he called me " Baby" and he's been " Trying to get in my pants" lately... I don't know what to do... but he acts like a whole different person around his parents, my mom, and , his friends and brothers. That's normal. Is it normal that I'm in love with my cousin, while in a loyal relationship with my boyfriend? I am like sooooo confused with myself.

Dasia: I started falling for my cousin when I was 6 and ever since I have been very loving to him. He even loves me back the same way, but he's too scared to try to form a relationship. So now I'm a little heart broken, but at least thanks to Heather I know how to deal with this situation that I'm in.

Gladis: I fell in love with my second cousin i didn't know until after we fell in love then we had to make that decision to stay together or break up eight years later here we are happy and together... love is love.

Isha Ahmad: I'm having a crush on my cousin since when I was just 7 years old and now this has been 7 years. I don't feel anything abnormal about it but it's just that he would never have a crush on me because he studies in the best school where he must be having a girlfriend and also he is the stud of his class. we barely talk now maybe because now we've grown up

Letmein123: @Lily Kay, OMG gurl I feel u I have a step dad and my cousin is from my step dad side of the family so I mean technically I can date him and I think he likes me back too lol #relatable #truestorybro

Zen: I love her since our childhood days, plays, time we used to spend together, things we used to share, minor or major fights between us and then compromising and apologizing, things were going well but suddenly there was a family conflict and we got separated , left with no medium to communicate as she was not on facebook at that time...after 6 years when we meet we become good friends and one day she tells me that she has a boyfriend, I was broken but didn't react negatively instead I cheered her up..all those 6 years I didn't date any girl but when she asked me about my love life I said " yeah I've been with 3-4 girls and got separated " I still don't have a girlfriend its not that I don't want to be with anyone now but I wanna see her

yusak Handianto: back then when i was in senior high school, i had a crush with my cousin. since it became an uproar in my family, we got separated for around 7 years till i met her again recently, i felt that i'm still loving her that much. is this normal? what should i do? does this mean that she was my first love?

kathy kate: I really fell in love with my cousin i fell stupid to think it because i fell am stubborn to liking my own cousin .. i know my feelings is not natural.. I didnt tell to every body except to my bff.. i want there advice but they didnt know that feelings so!! I always want to spend more time with him.. I want to be his girl friend but i know it will not happen because were cousin's and he is part of my family... NEED ADVICE!!?? :(

Alice: It is not wrong. Cousins can marry . This is a hate filled article.

Jessica: I totally married my second cousin and am due with our baby in a few weeks.

Khadija Fatima: @kathy kate, Listen uk the same thing happened to me..like I like my cousin a lot..and in our family everyone wanted us to get married..when we were really young..and now I'm 16 and he's 18 I reside in Dubai and He resides in New York..we met recently after 11 yrs..and I fell for him..but he didn't

Tyriana Shavon Mitchell: I have had a crush on my cousin since we were kids... our moms were going through some things... so we got separated for about 6 years... we met up again and now I'm like totally in love with him... I don't know if he feels the same way... he says he has a girlfriend... but I don't believe him... Is it weird that I'm like totally in love with him? I've been having dreams about him and everything... and I don't know if this is a sign or not but, he called me " Baby" and he's been " Trying to get in my pants" lately... I don't know what to do... but he acts like a whole different person around his parents, my mom, and , his friends and brothers. That's normal. Is it normal that I'm in love with my cousin, while in a loyal relationship with my boyfriend? I am like sooooo confused with myself.

Dasia: I started falling for my cousin when I was 6 and ever since I have been very loving to him. He even loves me back the same way, but he's too scared to try to form a relationship. So now I'm a little heart broken, but at least thanks to Heather I know how to deal with this situation that I'm in.

Gladis: I fell in love with my second cousin i didn't know until after we fell in love then we had to make that decision to stay together or break up eight years later here we are happy and together... love is love.

Isha Ahmad: I'm having a crush on my cousin since when I was just 7 years old and now this has been 7 years. I don't feel anything abnormal about it but it's just that he would never have a crush on me because he studies in the best school where he must be having a girlfriend and also he is the stud of his class. we barely talk now maybe because now we've grown up

Letmein123: @Lily Kay, OMG gurl I feel u I have a step dad and my cousin is from my step dad side of the family so I mean technically I can date him and I think he likes me back too lol #relatable #truestorybro

Zen: I love her since our childhood days, plays, time we used to spend together, things we used to share, minor or major fights between us and then compromising and apologizing, things were going well but suddenly there was a family conflict and we got separated , left with no medium to communicate as she was not on facebook at that time...after 6 years when we meet we become good friends and one day she tells me that she has a boyfriend, I was broken but didn't react negatively instead I cheered her up..all those 6 years I didn't date any girl but when she asked me about my love life I said " yeah I've been with 3-4 girls and got separated " I still don't have a girlfriend its not that I don't want to be with anyone now but I wanna see her

yusak Handianto: back then when i was in senior high school, i had a crush with my cousin. since it became an uproar in my family, we got separated for around 7 years till i met her again recently, i felt that i'm still loving her that much. is this normal? what should i do? does this mean that she was my first love?

kathy kate: I really fell in love with my cousin i fell stupid to think it because i fell am stubborn to liking my own cousin .. i know my feelings is not natural.. I didnt tell to every body except to my bff.. i want there advice but they didnt know that feelings so!! I always want to spend more time with him.. I want to be his girl friend but i know it will not happen because were cousin's and he is part of my family... NEED ADVICE!!?? :(

Alice: It is not wrong. Cousins can marry . This is a hate filled article.

Jessica: I totally married my second cousin and am due with our baby in a few weeks.

Khadija Fatima: @kathy kate, Listen uk the same thing happened to me..like I like my cousin a lot..and in our family everyone wanted us to get married..when we were really young..and now I'm 16 and he's 18 I reside in Dubai and He resides in New York..we met recently after 11 yrs..and I fell for him..but he didn't

Tyriana Shavon Mitchell: I have had a crush on my cousin since we were kids... our moms were going through some things... so we got separated for about 6 years... we met up again and now I'm like totally in love with him... I don't know if he feels the same way... he says he has a girlfriend... but I don't believe him... Is it weird that I'm like totally in love with him? I've been having dreams about him and everything... and I don't know if this is a sign or not but, he called me " Baby" and he's been " Trying to get in my pants" lately... I don't know what to do... but he acts like a whole different person around his parents, my mom, and , his friends and brothers. That's normal. Is it normal that I'm in love with my cousin, while in a loyal relationship with my boyfriend? I am like sooooo confused with myself.

Dasia: I started falling for my cousin when I was 6 and ever since I have been very loving to him. He even loves me back the same way, but he's too scared to try to form a relationship. So now I'm a little heart broken, but at least thanks to Heather I know how to deal with this situation that I'm in.

Gladis: I fell in love with my second cousin i didn't know until after we fell in love then we had to make that decision to stay together or break up eight years later here we are happy and together... love is love.

Isha Ahmad: I'm having a crush on my cousin since when I was just 7 years old and now this has been 7 years. I don't feel anything abnormal about it but it's just that he would never have a crush on me because he studies in the best school where he must be having a girlfriend and also he is the stud of his class. we barely talk now maybe because now we've grown up

Letmein123: @Lily Kay, OMG gurl I feel u I have a step dad and my cousin is from my step dad side of the family so I mean technically I can date him and I think he likes me back too lol #relatable #truestorybro

Zen: I love her since our childhood days, plays, time we used to spend together, things we used to share, minor or major fights between us and then compromising and apologizing, things were going well but suddenly there was a family conflict and we got separated , left with no medium to communicate as she was not on facebook at that time...after 6 years when we meet we become good friends and one day she tells me that she has a boyfriend, I was broken but didn't react negatively instead I cheered her up..all those 6 years I didn't date any girl but when she asked me about my love life I said " yeah I've been with 3-4 girls and got separated " I still don't have a girlfriend its not that I don't want to be with anyone now but I wanna see her

yusak Handianto: back then when i was in senior high school, i had a crush with my cousin. since it became an uproar in my family, we got separated for around 7 years till i met her again recently, i felt that i'm still loving her that much. is this normal? what should i do? does this mean that she was my first love?

kathy kate: I really fell in love with my cousin i fell stupid to think it because i fell am stubborn to liking my own cousin .. i know my feelings is not natural.. I didnt tell to every body except to my bff.. i want there advice but they didnt know that feelings so!! I always want to spend more time with him.. I want to be his girl friend but i know it will not happen because were cousin's and he is part of my family... NEED ADVICE!!?? :(

Alice: It is not wrong. Cousins can marry . This is a hate filled article.

Jessica: I totally married my second cousin and am due with our baby in a few weeks.

Khadija Fatima: @kathy kate, Listen uk the same thing happened to me..like I like my cousin a lot..and in our family everyone wanted us to get married..when we were really young..and now I'm 16 and he's 18 I reside in Dubai and He resides in New York..we met recently after 11 yrs..and I fell for him..but he didn't

Tyriana Shavon Mitchell: I have had a crush on my cousin since we were kids... our moms were going through some things... so we got separated for about 6 years... we met up again and now I'm like totally in love with him... I don't know if he feels the same way... he says he has a girlfriend... but I don't believe him... Is it weird that I'm like totally in love with him? I've been having dreams about him and everything... and I don't know if this is a sign or not but, he called me " Baby" and he's been " Trying to get in my pants" lately... I don't know what to do... but he acts like a whole different person around his parents, my mom, and , his friends and brothers. That's normal. Is it normal that I'm in love with my cousin, while in a loyal relationship with my boyfriend? I am like sooooo confused with myself.

Dasia: I started falling for my cousin when I was 6 and ever since I have been very loving to him. He even loves me back the same way, but he's too scared to try to form a relationship. So now I'm a little heart broken, but at least thanks to Heather I know how to deal with this situation that I'm in.

Gladis: I fell in love with my second cousin i didn't know until after we fell in love then we had to make that decision to stay together or break up eight years later here we are happy and together... love is love.

Isha Ahmad: I'm having a crush on my cousin since when I was just 7 years old and now this has been 7 years. I don't feel anything abnormal about it but it's just that he would never have a crush on me because he studies in the best school where he must be having a girlfriend and also he is the stud of his class. we barely talk now maybe because now we've grown up

Letmein123: @Lily Kay, OMG gurl I feel u I have a step dad and my cousin is from my step dad side of the family so I mean technically I can date him and I think he likes me back too lol #relatable #truestorybro

Zen: I love her since our childhood days, plays, time we used to spend together, things we used to share, minor or major fights between us and then compromising and apologizing, things were going well but suddenly there was a family conflict and we got separated , left with no medium to communicate as she was not on facebook at that time...after 6 years when we meet we become good friends and one day she tells me that she has a boyfriend, I was broken but didn't react negatively instead I cheered her up..all those 6 years I didn't date any girl but when she asked me about my love life I said " yeah I've been with 3-4 girls and got separated " I still don't have a girlfriend its not that I don't want to be with anyone now but I wanna see her

yusak Handianto: back then when i was in senior high school, i had a crush with my cousin. since it became an uproar in my family, we got separated for around 7 years till i met her again recently, i felt that i'm still loving her that much. is this normal? what should i do? does this mean that she was my first love?

kathy kate: I really fell in love with my cousin i fell stupid to think it because i fell am stubborn to liking my own cousin .. i know my feelings is not natural.. I didnt tell to every body except to my bff.. i want there advice but they didnt know that feelings so!! I always want to spend more time with him.. I want to be his girl friend but i know it will not happen because were cousin's and he is part of my family... NEED ADVICE!!?? :(

Alice: It is not wrong. Cousins can marry . This is a hate filled article.

Jessica: I totally married my second cousin and am due with our baby in a few weeks.

Khadija Fatima: @kathy kate, Listen uk the same thing happened to me..like I like my cousin a lot..and in our family everyone wanted us to get married..when we were really young..and now I'm 16 and he's 18 I reside in Dubai and He resides in New York..we met recently after 11 yrs..and I fell for him..but he didn't

Tyriana Shavon Mitchell: I have had a crush on my cousin since we were kids... our moms were going through some things... so we got separated for about 6 years... we met up again and now I'm like totally in love with him... I don't know if he feels the same way... he says he has a girlfriend... but I don't believe him... Is it weird that I'm like totally in love with him? I've been having dreams about him and everything... and I don't know if this is a sign or not but, he called me " Baby" and he's been " Trying to get in my pants" lately... I don't know what to do... but he acts like a whole different person around his parents, my mom, and , his friends and brothers. That's normal. Is it normal that I'm in love with my cousin, while in a loyal relationship with my boyfriend? I am like sooooo confused with myself.

Dasia: I started falling for my cousin when I was 6 and ever since I have been very loving to him. He even loves me back the same way, but he's too scared to try to form a relationship. So now I'm a little heart broken, but at least thanks to Heather I know how to deal with this situation that I'm in.

Gladis: I fell in love with my second cousin i didn't know until after we fell in love then we had to make that decision to stay together or break up eight years later here we are happy and together... love is love.

Isha Ahmad: I'm having a crush on my cousin since when I was just 7 years old and now this has been 7 years. I don't feel anything abnormal about it but it's just that he would never have a crush on me because he studies in the best school where he must be having a girlfriend and also he is the stud of his class. we barely talk now maybe because now we've grown up

Letmein123: @Lily Kay, OMG gurl I feel u I have a step dad and my cousin is from my step dad side of the family so I mean technically I can date him and I think he likes me back too lol #relatable #truestorybro

Zen: I love her since our childhood days, plays, time we used to spend together, things we used to share, minor or major fights between us and then compromising and apologizing, things were going well but suddenly there was a family conflict and we got separated , left with no medium to communicate as she was not on facebook at that time...after 6 years when we meet we become good friends and one day she tells me that she has a boyfriend, I was broken but didn't react negatively instead I cheered her up..all those 6 years I didn't date any girl but when she asked me about my love life I said " yeah I've been with 3-4 girls and got separated " I still don't have a girlfriend its not that I don't want to be with anyone now but I wanna see her

Yusak Handianto: back then when i was in senior high school, i had a crush with my cousin. since it became an uproar in my family, we got separated for around 7 years till i met her again recently, i felt that i'm still loving her that much. is this normal? what should i do? does this mean that she was my first love?

kathy kate: I really fell in love with my cousin i fell stupid to think it because i fell am stubborn to liking my own cousin .. i know my feelings is not natural.. I didnt tell to every body except to my bff.. i want there advice but they didnt know that feelings so!! I always want to spend more time with him.. I want to be his girl friend but i know it will not happen because were cousin's and he is part of my family... NEED ADVICE!!?? :(

Alice: It is not wrong. Cousins can marry . This is a hate filled article.

Jessica: I totally married my second cousin and am due with our baby in a few weeks.

Khadija Fatima: @kathy kate, Listen uk the same thing happened to me..like I like my cousin a lot..and in our family everyone wanted us to get married..when we were really young..and now I'm 16 and he's 18 I reside in Dubai and He resides in New York..we met recently after 11 yrs..and I fell for him..but he didn't

Tyriana Shavon Mitchell: I have had a crush on my cousin since we were kids... our moms were going through some things... so we got separated for about 6 years... we met up again and now I'm like totally in love with him... I don't know if he feels the same way... he says he has a girlfriend... but I don't believe him... Is it weird that I'm like totally in love with him? I've been having dreams about him and everything... and I don't know if this is a sign or not but, he called me " Baby" and he's been " Trying to get in my pants" lately... I don't know what to do... but he acts like a whole different person around his parents, my mom, and , his friends and brothers. That's normal. Is it normal that I'm in love with my cousin, while in a loyal relationship with my boyfriend? I am like sooooo confused with myself.

Dasia: I started falling for my cousin when I was 6 and ever since I have been very loving to him. He even loves me back the same way, but he's too scared to try to form a relationship. So now I'm a little heart broken, but at least thanks to Heather I know how to deal with this situation that I'm in.

Gladis: I fell in love with my second cousin i didn't know until after we fell in love then we had to make that decision to stay together or break up eight years later here we are happy and together... love is love.

Isha Ahmad: I'm having a crush on my cousin since when I was just 7 years old and now this has been 7 years. I don't feel anything abnormal about it but it's just that he would never have a crush on me because he studies in the best school where he must be having a girlfriend and also he is the stud of his class. we barely talk now maybe because now we've grown up

Letmein123: @Lily Kay, OMG gurl I feel u I have a step dad and my cousin is from my step dad side of the family so I mean technically I can date him and I think he likes me back too lol #relatable #truestorybro

Zen: I love her since our childhood days, plays, time we used to spend together, things we used to share, minor or major fights between us and then compromising and apologizing, things were going well but suddenly there was a family conflict and we got separated , left with no medium to communicate as she was not on facebook at that time...after 6 years when we meet we become good friends and one day she tells me that she has a boyfriend, I was broken but didn't react negatively instead I cheered her up..all those 6 years I didn't date any girl but when she asked me about my love life I said " yeah I've been with 3-4 girls and got separated " I still don't have a girlfriend its not that I don't want to be with anyone now but I wanna see her

yusak Handianto: back then when i was in senior nigh school, i had a crush with my cousin. since it became an uproar in my family, we got separated for around 7 years till i met her again recently, i felt that i'm still loving her that much. is this normal? what should i do? does this mean that she was my first love?

kathy kate: I really fell in love with my cousin i fell stupid to think it because i fell iam stubborn to liking my own cousin .. i know my feelings is not natural.. I didnt tell to every body except to my bff.. i want there advice but they didnt know that feelings so!! I always want to spend more time with him.. I want to be his girl friend but i know it will not happen because were cousin's and he is part of my family... NEED ADVICE!!?? :(

Alice: It is not wrong. Cousins can marry . This is a hate filled article.

Jessica: I totally married my second cousin and am due with our baby in a few weeks.

Khadija Fatima: @kathy kate, Listen uk the same thing happened to me..like I like my cousin a lot..and in our family everyone wanted us to get married..when we were really young..and now I'm 16 and he's 18 I reside in Dubai and He resides in New York..we met recently after 11 yrs..and I fell for him..but he didn't

Tyriana Shavon Mitchell: I have had a crush on my cuzin since we were kids... our moms were going through some things... so we're got seperated for about 6 years... we met up again and now I'm like totally in love with him... I dont know if he feels the same way... he says he has a girlfriend... but i dont believe him... Is it weird that im like totally in love with him? Ive been haveing dreams about him and everything... and i dont know if this is a sign or not but, he called me " Baby" and he's been " TRying to get in my pants" lately... i dont know what to do... but he acts like a whole different person around his parents, my mom, and , his friends and brothers. Thats normal. Is it normal that im in love with my cousin, while in a loyal relashionship with my boyfriend? I am like sooooo confused with myself.

Dasia: I started falling for my cousin when I was 6 and ever since I have been very loving to him. He even loves me back the same way, but he's too scared to try to form a relationship. So now I'm a little heart broken, but at least thanks to Heather I know how to deal with this situation that I'm in.

Gladis: I fell in love with my second cousin i didnt know until after we fell in love then we had to make that decision to stay together or break up eight years later here we are happy and together... love is love.

Isha Ahmad: i'm having a crush on my cousin since when i was just 7 years old and now this has been 7 years. i don't feel anything abnormal about it but it's just that he would never have a crush on me because he studies in the best school where he must be having a girlfriend and also he is the stud of his class. we barely talk now maybe because now we've grown up

Letmein123: @Lily Kay, OMG gurl I feel u I have a step dad and my cousin is from my step dad side of the family so I mean technically I can date him and I think he likes me back too lol #relatable #truestorybro

Zen: i love her since our childhood days, plays, time we used to spend together, things we used to share, minor or major fights between us and then compromising and apologizing, things were going well but suddenly there was a family conflict and we got separated , left with no medium to communicate as she was not on facebook at that time...after 6 years when we meet we become good friends and one day she tells me that she has a boyfriend, i was broken but didn't reacted negatively instead i cheered her up..all those 6 years i didn't date any girl but when she asked me about my love life i said " yeah i've been with 3-4 girls and got separated " i still don't have a girlfriend its not that i don't want to be with anyone now but i wanna see her

yusak Handianto: back then when i was in senior high school, i had a crush with my cousin. since it became an uproar in my family, we got separated for around 7 years till i met her again recently, i felt that i'm still loving her that much. is this normal? what should i do? does this mean that she was my first love?

kathy kate: I really fell in love with my cousin i fell stupid to think it because i fell am stubborn to liking my own cousin .. i know my feelings is not natural.. I didnt tell to every body except to my bff.. i want there advice but they didnt know that feelings so!! I always want to spend more time with him.. I want to be his girl friend but i know it will not happen because were cousin's and he is part of my family... NEED ADVICE!!?? :(

Alice: It is not wrong. Cousins can marry . This is a hate filled article.

Jessica: I totally married my second cousin and am due with our baby in a few weeks.

Khadija Fatima: @kathy kate, Listen uk the same thing happened to me..like I like my cousin a lot..and in our family everyone wanted us to get married..when we were really young..and now I'm 16 and he's 18 I reside in Dubai and He resides in New York..we met recently after 11 yrs..and I fell for him..but he didn't

Tyriana Shavon Mitchell: I have had a crush on my cousin since we were kids... our moms were going through some things... so we got separated for about 6 years... we met up again and now I'm like totally in love with him... I don't know if he feels the same way... he says he has a girlfriend... but I don't believe him... Is it weird that I'm like totally in love with him? I've been having dreams about him and everything... and I don't know if this is a sign or not but, he called me " Baby" and he's been " Trying to get in my pants" lately... I don't know what to do... but he acts like a whole different person around his parents, my mom, and , his friends and brothers. That's normal. Is it normal that I'm in love with my cousin, while in a loyal relationship with my boyfriend? I am like sooooo confused with myself.

Dasia: I started falling for my cousin when I was 6 and ever since I have been very loving to him. He even loves me back the same way, but he's too scared to try to form a relationship. So now I'm a little heart broken, but at least thanks to Heather I know how to deal with this situation that I'm in.

Gladis: I fell in love with my second cousin i didn't know until after we fell in love then we had to make that decision to stay together or break up eight years later here we are happy and together... love is love.

Isha Ahmad: I'm having a crush on my cousin since when I was just 7 years old and now this has been 7 years. I don't feel anything abnormal about it but it's just that he would never have a crush on me because he studies in the best school where he must be having a girlfriend and also he is the stud of his class. we barely talk now maybe because now we've grown up

Letmein123: @Lily Kay, OMG gurl I feel u I have a step dad and my cousin is from my step dad side of the family so I mean technically I can date him and I think he likes me back too lol #relatable #truestorybro

Zen: I love her since our childhood days, plays, time we used to spend together, things we used to share, minor or major fights between us and then compromising and apologizing, things were going well but suddenly there was a family conflict and we got separated , left with no medium to communicate as she was not on facebook at that time...after 6 years when we meet we become good friends and one day she tells me that she has a boyfriend, I was broken but didn't react negatively instead I cheered her up..all those 6 years I didn't date any girl but when she asked me about my love life I said " yeah I've been with 3-4 girls and got separated " I still don't have a girlfriend its not that I don't want to be with anyone now but I wanna see her

yusak Handianto: back then when i was in senior high school, i had a crush with my cousin. since it became an uproar in my family, we got separated for around 7 years till i met her again recently, i felt that i'm still loving her that much. is this normal? what should i do? does this mean that she was my first love?

kathy kate: I really fell in love with my cousin i fell stupid to think it because i fell am stubborn to liking my own cousin .. i know my feelings is not natural.. I didnt tell to every body except to my bff.. i want there advice but they didnt know that feelings so!! I always want to spend more time with him.. I want to be his girl friend but i know it will not happen because were cousin's and he is part of my family... NEED ADVICE!!?? :(

Alice: It is not wrong. Cousins can marry . This is a hate filled article.

Jessica: I totally married my second cousin and am due with our baby in a few weeks.

Khadija Fatima: @kathy kate, Listen uk the same thing happened to me..like I like my cousin a lot..and in our family everyone wanted us to get married..when we were really young..and now I'm 16 and he's 18 I reside in Dubai and He resides in New York..we met recently after 11 yrs..and I fell for him..but he didn't

Tyriana Shavon Mitchell: I have had a crush on my cousin since we were kids... our moms were going through some things... so we got separated for about 6 years... we met up again and now I'm like totally in love with him... I don't know if he feels the same way... he says he has a girlfriend... but I don't believe him... Is it weird that I'm like totally in love with him? I've been having dreams about him and everything... and I don't know if this is a sign or not but, he called me " Baby" and he's been " Trying to get in my pants" lately... I don't know what to do... but he acts like a whole different person around his parents, my mom, and , his friends and brothers. That's normal. Is it normal that I'm in love with my cousin, while in a loyal relationship with my boyfriend? I am like sooooo confused with myself.

Dasia: I started falling for my cousin when I was 6 and ever since I have been very loving to him. He even loves me back the same way, but he's too scared to try to form a relationship. So now I'm a little heart broken, but at least thanks to Heather I know how to deal with this situation that I'm in.

Gladis: I fell in love with my second cousin i didn't know until after we fell in love then we had to make that decision to stay together or break up eight years later here we are happy and together... love is love.

Isha Ahmad: I'm having a crush on my cousin since when I was just 7 years old and now this has been 7 years. I don't feel anything abnormal about it but it's just that he would never have a crush on me because he studies in the best school where he must be having a girlfriend and also he is the stud of his class. we barely talk now maybe because now we've grown up

Letmein123: @Lily Kay, OMG gurl I feel u I have a step dad and my cousin is from my step dad side of the family so I mean technically I can date him and I think he likes me back too lol #relatable #truestorybro

Zen: I love her since our childhood days, plays, time we used to spend together, things we used to share, minor or major fights between us and then compromising and apologizing, things were going well but suddenly there was a family conflict and we got separated , left with no medium to communicate as she was not on facebook at that time...after 6 years when we meet we become good friends and one day she tells me that she has a boyfriend, I was broken but didn't react negatively instead I cheered her up..all those 6 years I didn't date any girl but when she asked me about my love life I said " yeah I've been with 3-4 girls and got separated " I still don't have a girlfriend its not that I don't want to be with anyone now but I wanna see her

yusak Handianto: back then when i was in senior high school, i had a crush with my cousin. since it became an uproar in my family, we got separated for around 7 years till i met her again recently, i felt that i'm still loving her that much. is this normal? what should i do? does this mean that she was my first love?

kathy kate: I really fell in love with my cousin i fell stupid to think it because i fell am stubborn to liking my own cousin .. i know my feelings is not natural.. I didnt tell to every body except to my bff.. i want there advice but they didnt know that feelings so!! I always want to spend more time with him.. I want to be his girl friend but i know it will not happen because were cousin's and he is part of my family... NEED ADVICE!!?? :(

Alice: It is not wrong. Cousins can marry . This is a hate filled article.

Jessica: I totally married my second cousin and am due with our baby in a few weeks.

Khadija Fatima: @kathy kate, Listen uk the same thing happened to me..like I like my cousin a lot..and in our family everyone wanted us to get married..when we were really young..and now I'm 16 and he's 18 I reside in Dubai and He resides in New York..we met recently after 11 yrs..and I fell for him..but he didn't

Tyriana Shavon Mitchell: I have had a crush on my cousin since we were kids... our moms were going through some things... so we got separated for about 6 years... we met up again and now I'm like totally in love with him... I don't know if he feels the same way... he says he has a girlfriend... but I don't believe him... Is it weird that I'm like totally in love with him? I've been having dreams about him and everything... and I don't know if this is a sign or not but, he called me " Baby" and he's been " Trying to get in my pants" lately... I don't know what to do... but he acts like a whole different person around his parents, my mom, and , his friends and brothers. That's normal. Is it normal that I'm in love with my cousin, while in a loyal relationship with my boyfriend? I am like sooooo confused with myself.

Dasia: I started falling for my cousin when I was 6 and ever since I have been very loving to him. He even loves me back the same way, but he's too scared to try to form a relationship. So now I'm a little heart broken, but at least thanks to Heather I know how to deal with this situation that I'm in.

Gladis: I fell in love with my second cousin i didn't know until after we fell in love then we had to make that decision to stay together or break up eight years later here we are happy and together... love is love.

Isha Ahmad: I'm having a crush on my cousin since when I was just 7 years old and now this has been 7 years. I don't feel anything abnormal about it but it's just that he would never have a crush on me because he studies in the best school where he must be having a girlfriend and also he is the stud of his class. we barely talk now maybe because now we've grown up

Letmein123: @Lily Kay, OMG gurl I feel u I have a step dad and my cousin is from my step dad side of the family so I mean technically I can date him and I think he likes me back too lol #relatable #truestorybro

Zen: I love her since our childhood days, plays, time we used to spend together, things we used to share, minor or major fights between us and then compromising and apologizing, things were going well but suddenly there was a family conflict and we got separated , left with no medium to communicate as she was not on facebook at that time...after 6 years when we meet we become good friends and one day she tells me that she has a boyfriend, I was broken but didn't react negatively instead I cheered her up..all those 6 years I didn't date any girl but when she asked me about my love life I said " yeah I've been with 3-4 girls and got separated " I still don't have a girlfriend its not that I don't want to be with anyone now but I wanna see her

yusak Handianto: back then when i was in senior high school, i had a crush with my cousin. since it became an uproar in my family, we got separated for around 7 years till i met her again recently, i felt that i'm still loving her that much. is this normal? what should i do? does this mean that she was my first love?

kathy kate: I really fell in love with my cousin i fell stupid to think it because i fell am stubborn to liking my own cousin .. i know my feelings is not natural.. I didnt tell to every body except to my bff.. i want there advice but they didnt know that feelings so!! I always want to spend more time with him.. I want to be his girl friend but i know it will not happen because were cousin's and he is part of my family... NEED ADVICE!!?? :(

Alice: It is not wrong. Cousins can marry . This is a hate filled article.

Jessica: I totally married my second cousin and am due with our baby in a few weeks.

Khadija Fatima: @kathy kate, Listen uk the same thing happened to me..like I like my cousin a lot..and in our family everyone wanted us to get married..when we were really young..and now I'm 16 and he's 18 I reside in Dubai and He resides in New York..we met recently after 11 yrs..and I fell for him..but he didn't

Tyriana Shavon Mitchell: I have had a crush on my cousin since we were kids... our moms were going through some things... so we got separated for about 6 years... we met up again and now I'm like totally in love with him... I don't know if he feels the same way... he says he has a girlfriend... but I don't believe him... Is it weird that I'm like totally in love with him? I've been having dreams about him and everything... and I don't know if this is a sign or not but, he called me " Baby" and he's been " Trying to get in my pants" lately... I don't know what to do... but he acts like a whole different person around his parents, my mom, and , his friends and brothers. That's normal. Is it normal that I'm in love with my cousin, while in a loyal relationship with my boyfriend? I am like sooooo confused with myself.

Dasia: I started falling for my cousin when I was 6 and ever since I have been very loving to him. He even loves me back the same way, but he's too scared to try to form a relationship. So now I'm a little heart broken, but at least thanks to Heather I know how to deal with this situation that I'm in.

Gladis: I fell in love with my second cousin i didn't know until after we fell in love then we had to make that decision to stay together or break up eight years later here we are happy and together... love is love.

Isha Ahmad: I'm having a crush on my cousin since when I was just 7 years old and now this has been 7 years. I don't feel anything abnormal about it but it's just that he would never have a crush on me because he studies in the best school where he must be having a girlfriend and also he is the stud of his class. we barely talk now maybe because now we've grown up

Letmein123: @Lily Kay, OMG gurl I feel u I have a step dad and my cousin is from my step dad side of the family so I mean technically I can date him and I think he likes me back too lol #relatable #truestorybro

Zen: I love her since our childhood days, plays, time we used to spend together, things we used to share, minor or major fights between us and then compromising and apologizing, things were going well but suddenly there was a family conflict and we got separated , left with no medium to communicate as she was not on facebook at that time...after 6 years when we meet we become good friends and one day she tells me that she has a boyfriend, I was broken but didn't react negatively instead I cheered her up..all those 6 years I didn't date any girl but when she asked me about my love life I said " yeah I've been with 3-4 girls and got separated " I still don't have a girlfriend its not that I don't want to be with anyone now but I wanna see her

Yusak Handianto: back then when i was in senior high school, i had a crush with my cousin. since it became an uproar in my family, we got separated for around 7 years till i met her again recently, i felt that i'm still loving her that much. is this normal? what should i do? does this mean that she was my first love?

kathy kate: I really fell in love with my cousin i fell stupid to think it because i fell am stubborn to liking my own cousin .. i know my feelings is not natural.. I didnt tell to every body except to my bff.. i want there advice but they didnt know that feelings so!! I always want to spend more time with him.. I want to be his girl friend but i know it will not happen because were cousin's and he is part of my family... NEED ADVICE!!?? :(

Alice: It is not wrong. Cousins can marry . This is a hate filled article.

Jessica: I totally married my second cousin and am due with our baby in a few weeks.

Khadija Fatima: @kathy kate, Listen uk the same thing happened to me..like I like my cousin a lot..and in our family everyone wanted us to get married..when we were really young..and now I'm 16 and he's 18 I reside in Dubai and he resides in New York..we met recently after 11 yrs..and I fell for him..but he didn't

Tyriana Shavon Mitchell: I have had a crush on my cousin since we were kids... our moms were going through some things... so we got separated for about 6 years... we met up again and now I'm like totally in love with him... I don't know if he feels the same way... he says he has a girlfriend... but I don't believe him... Is it weird that I'm like totally in love with him? I've been having dreams about him and everything... and I don't know if this is a sign or not but, he called me " Baby" and he's been " Trying to get in my pants" lately... I don't know what to do... but he acts like a whole different person around his parents, my mom, and , his friends and brothers. That's normal. Is it normal that I'm in love with my cousin, while in a loyal relationship with my boyfriend? I am like sooooo confused with myself.

Dasia: I started falling for my cousin when I was 6 and ever since I have been very loving to him. He even loves me back the same way, but he's too scared to try to form a relationship. So now I'm a little heart broken, but at least thanks to Heather I know how to deal with this situation that I'm in.

Gladis: I fell in love with my second cousin i didn't know until after we fell in love then we had to make that decision to stay together or break up eight years later here we are happy and together... love is love.

Isha Ahmad: I'm having a crush on my cousin since when I was just 7 years old and now this has been 7 years. I don't feel anything abnormal about it but it's just that he would never have a crush on me because he studies in the best school where he must be having a girlfriend and also he is the stud of his class. we barely talk now maybe because now we've grown up

Letmein123: @Lily Kay, OMG gurl I feel u I have a step dad and my cousin is from my step dad side of the family so I mean technically I can date him and I think he likes me back too lol #relatable #truestorybro

Zen: I love her since our childhood days, plays, time we used to spend together, things we used to share, minor or major fights between us and then compromising and apologizing, things were going well but suddenly there was a family conflict and we got separated , left with no medium to communicate as she was not on facebook at that time...after 6 years when we meet we become good friends and one day she tells me that she has a boyfriend, I was broken but didn't react negatively instead I cheered her up..all those 6 years I didn't date any girl but when she asked me about my love life I said " yeah I've been with 3-4 girls and got separated " I still don't have a girlfriend its not that I don't want to be with anyone now but I wanna see her

Yusak Handianto: back then when i was in senior high school, i had a crush with my cousin. since it became an uproar in my family, we got separated for around 7 years till i met her again recently, i felt that i'm still loving her that much. is this normal? what should i do? does this mean that she was my first love?

kathy kate: I really fell in love with my cousin i fell stupid to think it because i fell am stubborn to liking my own cousin .. i know my feelings is not natural.. I didnt tell to every body except to my bff.. i want there advice but they didnt know that feelings so!! I always want to spend more time with him.. I want to be his girl friend but i know it will not happen because were cousin's and he is part of my family... NEED ADVICE!!?? :(

Alice: It is not wrong. Cousins can marry . This is a hate filled article.

Jessica: I totally married my second cousin and am due with our baby in a few weeks.

Khadija Fatima: @kathy kate, Listen uk the same thing happened to me..like I like my cousin a lot..and in our family everyone wanted us to get married..when we were really young..and now I'm 16 and he's 18 I reside in Dubai and He resides in New York..we met recently after 11 yrs..and I fell for him..but he didn't

Tyriana Shavon Mitchell: I have had a crush on my cousin since we were kids... our moms were going through some things... so we got separated for about 6 years... we met up again and now I'm like totally in love with him... I don't know if he feels the same way... he says he has a girlfriend... but I don't believe him... Is it weird that I'm like totally in love with him? I've been having dreams about him and everything... and I don't know if this is a sign or not but, he called me " Baby" and he's been " Trying to get in my pants" lately... I don't know what to do... but he acts like a whole different person around his parents, my mom, and , his friends and brothers. That's normal. Is it normal that I'm in love with my cousin, while in a loyal relationship with my boyfriend? I am like sooooo confused with myself.

Dasia: I started falling for my cousin when I was 6 and ever since I have been very loving to him. He even loves me back the same way, but he's too scared to try to form a relationship. So now I'm a little heart broken, but at least thanks to Heather I know how to deal with this situation that I'm in.

Gladis: I fell in love with my second cousin i didn't know until after we fell in love then we had to make that decision to stay together or break up eight years later here we are happy and together... love is love.

Isha Ahmad: I'm having a crush on my cousin since when I was just 7 years old and now this has been 7 years. I don't feel anything abnormal about it but it's just that he would never have a crush on me because he studies in the best school where he must be having a girlfriend and also he is the stud of his class. we barely talk now maybe because now we've grown up

Letmein123: @Lily Kay, OMG gurl I feel u I have a step dad and my cousin is from my step dad side of the family so I mean technically I can date him and I think he likes me back too lol #relatable #truestorybro

Zen: I love her since our childhood days, plays, time we used to spend together, things we used to share, minor or major fights between us and then compromising and apologizing, things were going well but suddenly there was a family conflict and we got separated , left with no medium to communicate as she was not on facebook at that time...after 6 years when we meet we become good friends and one day she tells me that she has a boyfriend, I was broken but didn't react negatively instead I cheered her up..all those 6 years I didn't date any girl but when she asked me about my love life I said " yeah I've been with 3-4 girls and got separated " I still don't have a girlfriend its not that I don't want to be with anyone now but I wanna see her

Yusak Handianto: back then when i was in senior high school, i had a crush with my cousin. since it became an uproar in my family, we got separated for around 7 years till i met her again recently, i felt that i'm still loving her that much. is this normal? what should i do? does this mean that she was my first love?

kathy kate: I really fell in love with my cousin i fell stupid to think it because i fell am stubborn to liking my own cousin .. i know my feelings is not natural.. I didnt tell to every body except to my bff.. i want there advice but they didnt know that feelings so!! I always want to spend more time with him.. I want to be his girl friend but i know it will not happen because were cousin's and he is part of my family... NEED ADVICE!!?? :(

Alice: It is not wrong. Cousins can marry . This is a hate filled article.

Jessica: I totally married my second cousin and am due with our baby in a few weeks.

Khadija Fatima: @kathy kate, Listen uk the same thing happened to me..like I like my cousin a lot..and in our family everyone wanted us to get married..when we were really young..and now I'm 16 and he's 18 I reside in Dubai and He resides in New York..we met recently after 11 yrs..and I fell for him..but he didn't

Tyriana Shavon Mitchell: I have had a crush on my cousin since we were kids... our moms were going through some things... so we got separated for about 6 years... we met up again and now I'm like totally in love with him... I don't know if he feels the same way... he says he has a girlfriend... but I don't believe him... Is it weird that I'm like totally in love with him? I've been having dreams about him and everything... and I don't know if this is a sign or not but, he called me " Baby" and he's been " Trying to get in my pants" lately... I don't know what to do... but he acts like a whole different person around his parents, my mom, and , his friends and brothers. That's normal. Is it normal that I'm in love with my cousin, while in a loyal relationship with my boyfriend? I am like sooooo confused with myself.

Dasia: I started falling for my cousin when I was 6 and ever since I have been very loving to him. He even loves me back the same way, but he's too scared to try to form a relationship. So now I'm a little heart broken, but at least thanks to Heather I know how to deal with this situation that I'm in.

Gladis: I fell in love with my second cousin i didn't know until after we fell in love then we had to make that decision to stay together or break up eight years later here we are happy and together... love is love.

Isha Ahmad: I'm having a crush on my cousin since when I was just 7 years old and now this has been 7 years. I don't feel anything abnormal about it but it's just that he would never have a crush on me because he studies in the best school where he must be having a girlfriend and also he is the stud of his class. we barely talk now maybe because now we've grown up

Letmein123: @Lily Kay, OMG gurl I feel u I have a step dad and my cousin is from my step dad side of the family so I mean technically I can date him and I think he likes me back too lol #relatable #truestorybro

Zen: I love her since our childhood days, plays, time we used to spend together, things we used to share, minor or major fights between us and then compromising and apologizing, things were going well but suddenly there was a family conflict and we got separated , left with no medium to communicate as she was not on facebook at that time...after 6 years when we meet we become good friends and one day she tells me that she has a boyfriend, I was broken but didn't react negatively instead I cheered her up..all those 6 years I didn't date any girl but when she asked me about my love life I said " yeah I've been with 3-4 girls and got separated " I still don't have a girlfriend its not that I don't want to be with anyone now but I wanna see her

yusak Handianto: back then when i was in senior high school, i had a crush with my cousin. since it became an uproar in my family, we got separated for around 7 years till i met her again recently, i felt that i'm still loving her that much. is this normal? what should i do? does this mean that she was my first love?

kathy kate: I really fell in love with my cousin i fell stupid to think it because i fell am stubborn to liking my own cousin .. i know my feelings is not natural.. I didnt tell to every body except to my bff.. i want there advice but they didnt know that feelings so!! I always want to spend more time with him.. I want to be his girl friend but i know it will not happen because were cousin's and he is part of my family... NEED ADVICE!!?? :(

Alice: It is not wrong. Cousins can marry . This is a hate filled article.

Jessica: I totally married my second cousin and am due with our baby in a few weeks.

Khadija Fatima: @kathy kate, Listen uk the same thing happened to me..like I like my cousin a lot..and in our family everyone wanted us to get married..when we were really young..and now I'm 16 and he's 18 I reside in Dubai and He resides in New York..we met recently after 11 yrs..and I fell for him..but he didn't

Tyriana Shavon Mitchell: I have had a crush on my cousin since we were kids... our moms were going through some things... so we got separated for about 6 years... we met up again and now I'm like totally in love with him... I don't know if he feels the same way... he says he has a girlfriend... but I don't believe him... Is it weird that I'm like totally in love with him? I've been having dreams about him and everything... and I don't know if this is a sign or not but, he called me " Baby" and he's been " Trying to get in my pants" lately... I don't know what to do... but he acts like a whole different person around his parents, my mom, and , his friends and brothers. That's normal. Is it normal that I'm in love with my cousin, while in a loyal relationship with my boyfriend? I am like sooooo confused with myself.

Dasia: I started falling for my cousin when I was 6 and ever since I have been very loving to him. He even loves me back the same way, but he's too scared to try to form a relationship. So now I'm a little heart broken, but at least thanks to Heather I know how to deal with this situation that I'm in.

Gladis: I fell in love with my second cousin i didn't know until after we fell in love then we had to make that decision to stay together or break up eight years later here we are happy and together... love is love.

Isha Ahmad: I'm having a crush on my cousin since when I was just 7 years old and now this has been 7 years. I don't feel anything abnormal about it but it's just that he would never have a crush on me because he studies in the best school where he must be having a girlfriend and also he is the stud of his class. we barely talk now maybe because now we've grown up

Letmein123: @Lily Kay, OMG gurl I feel u I have a step dad and my cousin is from my step dad side of the family so I mean technically I can date him and I think he likes me back too lol #relatable #truestorybro

Zen: I love her since our childhood days, plays, time we used to spend together, things we used to share, minor or major fights between us and then compromising and apologizing, things were going well but suddenly there was a family conflict and we got separated , left with no medium to communicate as she was not on facebook at that time...after 6 years when we meet we become good friends and one day she tells me that she has a boyfriend, I was broken but didn't react negatively instead I cheered her up..all those 6 years I didn't date any girl but when she asked me about my love life I said " yeah I've been with 3-4 girls and got separated " I still don't have a girlfriend its not that I don't want to be with anyone now but I wanna see her

Yusak Handianto: back then when i was in senior high school, i had a crush with my cousin. since it became an uproar in my family, we got separated for around 7 years till i met her again recently, i felt that i'm still loving her that much. is this normal? what should i do? does this mean that she was my first love?

kathy kate: I really fell in love with my cousin i fell stupid to think it because i fell am stubborn to liking my own cousin .. i know my feelings is not natural.. I didnt tell to every body except to my bff.. i want there advice but they didnt know that feelings so!! I always want to spend more time with him.. I want to be his girl friend but i know it will not happen because were cousin's and he is part of my family... NEED ADVICE!!?? :(

Alice: It is not wrong. Cousins can marry . This is a hate filled article.

Jessica: I totally married my second cousin and am due with our baby in a few weeks.

Khadija Fatima: @kathy kate, Listen uk the same thing happened to me..like I like my cousin a lot..and in our family everyone wanted us to get married..when we were really young..and now I'm 16 and he's 18 I reside in Dubai and He resides in New York..we met recently after 11 yrs..and I fell for him..but he didn't

Tyriana Shavon Mitchell: I have had a crush on my cousin since we were kids... our moms were going through some things... so we got separated for about 6 years... we met up again and now I'm like totally in love with him... I don't know if he feels the same way... he says he has a girlfriend... but I don't believe him... Is it weird that I'm like totally in love with him? I've been having dreams about him and everything... and I don't know if this is a sign or not but, he called me " Baby" and he's been " Trying to get in my pants" lately... I don't know what to do... but he acts like a whole different person around his parents, my mom, and , his friends and brothers. That's normal. Is it normal that I'm in love with my cousin, while in a loyal relationship with my boyfriend? I am like sooooo confused with myself.

Dasia: I started falling for my cousin when I was 6 and ever since I have been very loving to him. He even loves me back the same way, but he's too scared to try to form a relationship. So now I'm a little heart broken, but at least thanks to Heather I know how to deal with this situation that I'm in.

Gladis: I fell in love with my second cousin i didn't know until after we fell in love then we had to make that decision to stay together or break up eight years later here we are happy and together... love is love.

Isha Ahmad: I'm having a crush on my cousin since when I was just 7 years old and now this has been 7 years. I don't feel anything abnormal about it but it's just that he would never have a crush on me because he studies in the best school where he must be having a girlfriend and also he is the stud of his class. we barely talk now maybe because now we've grown up

Letmein123: @Lily Kay, OMG gurl I feel u I have a step dad and my cousin is from my step dad side of the family so I mean technically I can date him and I think he likes me back too lol #relatable #truestorybro

Zen: I love her since our childhood days, plays, time we used to spend together, things we used to share, minor or major fights between us and then compromising and apologizing, things were going well but suddenly there was a family conflict and we got separated , left with no medium to communicate as she was not on facebook at that time...after 6 years when we meet we become good friends and one day she tells me that she has a boyfriend, I was broken but didn't react negatively instead I cheered her up..all those 6 years I didn't date any girl but when she asked me about my love life I said " yeah I've been with 3-4 girls and got separated " I still don't have a girlfriend its not that I don't want to be with anyone now but I wanna see her

Yusak Handianto: back then when i was in senior high school, i had a crush with my cousin. since it became an uproar in my family, we got separated for around 7 years till i met her again recently, i felt that i'm still loving her that much. is this normal? what should i do? does this mean that she was my first love?

kathy kate: I really fell in love with my cousin i fell stupid to think it because i fell am stubborn to liking my own cousin .. i know my feelings is not natural.. I didnt tell to every body except to my bff.. i want there advice but they didnt know that feelings so!! I always want to spend more time with him.. I want to be his girl friend but i know it will not happen because were cousin's and he is part of my family... NEED ADVICE!!?? :(

Alice: It is not wrong. Cousins can marry . This is a hate filled article.

Jessica: I totally married my second cousin and am due with our baby in a few weeks.

Khadija Fatima: @kathy kate, Listen uk the same thing happened to me..like I like my cousin a lot..and in our family everyone wanted us to get married..when we were really young..and now I'm 16 and he's 18 I reside in Dubai and He resides in New York..we met recently after 11 yrs..and I fell for him..but he didn't

Tyriana Shavon Mitchell: I have had a crush on my cousin since we were kids... our moms were going through some things... so we got separated for about 6 years... we met up again and now I'm like totally in love with him... I don't know if he feels the same way... he says he has a girlfriend... but I don't believe him... Is it weird that I'm like totally in love with him? I've been having dreams about him and everything... and I don't know if this is a sign or not but, he called me " Baby" and he's been " Trying to get in my pants" lately... I don't know what to do... but he acts like a whole different person around his parents, my mom, and , his friends and brothers. That's normal. Is it normal that I'm in love with my cousin, while in a loyal relationship with my boyfriend? I am like sooooo confused with myself.

Dasia: I started falling for my cousin when I was 6 and ever since I have been very loving to him. He even loves me back the same way, but he's too scared to try to form a relationship. So now I'm a little heart broken, but at least thanks to Heather I know how to deal with this situation that I'm in.

Gladis: I fell in love with my second cousin i didn't know until after we fell in love then we had to make that decision to stay together or break up eight years later here we are happy and together... love is love.

Isha Ahmad: I'm having a crush on my cousin since when I was just 7 years old and now this has been 7 years. I don't feel anything abnormal about it but it's just that he would never have a crush on me because he studies in the best school where he must be having a girlfriend and also he is the stud of his class. we barely talk now maybe because now we've grown up

Letmein123: @Lily Kay, OMG gurl I feel u I have a step dad and my cousin is from my step dad side of the family so I mean technically I can date him and I think he likes me back too lol #relatable #truestorybro

Zen: I love her since our childhood days, plays, time we used to spend together, things we used to share, minor or major fights between us and then compromising and apologizing, things were going well but suddenly there was a family conflict and we got separated , left with no medium to communicate as she was not on facebook at that time...after 6 years when we meet we become good friends and one day she tells me that she has a boyfriend, I was broken but didn't react negatively instead I cheered her up..all those 6 years I didn't date any girl but when she asked me about my love life I said " yeah I've been with 3-4 girls and got separated " I still don't have a girlfriend its not that I don't want to be with anyone now but I wanna see her

Yusak Handianto: back then when i was in senior high school, i had a crush with my cousin. since it became an uproar in my family, we got separated for around 7 years till i met her again recently, i felt that i'm still loving her that much. is this normal? what should i do? does this mean that she was my first love?

kathy kate: I really fell in love with my cousin i fell stupid to think it because i fell am stubborn to liking my own cousin .. i know my feelings is not natural.. I didnt tell to every body except to my bff.. i want there advice but they didnt know that feelings so!! I always want to spend more time with him.. I want to be his girl friend but i know it will not happen because were cousin's and he is part of my family... NEED ADVICE!!?? :(

Alice: It is not wrong. Cousins can marry . This is a hate filled article.

Jessica: I totally married my second cousin and am due with our baby in a few weeks.

Khadija Fatima: @kathy kate, Listen uk the same thing happened to me..like I like my cousin a lot..and in our family everyone wanted us to get married..when we were really young..and now I'm 16 and he's 18 I reside in Dubai and He resides in New York..we met recently after 11 yrs..and I fell for him..but he didn't

Tyriana Shavon Mitchell: I have had a crush on my cousin since we were kids... our moms were going through some things... so we got separated for about 6 years... we met up again and now I'm like totally in love with him... I don't know if he feels the same way... he says he has a girlfriend... but I don't believe him... Is it weird that I'm like totally in love with him? I've been having dreams about him and everything... and I don't know if this is a sign or not but, he called me " Baby" and he's been " Trying to get in my pants" lately... I don't know what to do... but he acts like a whole different person around his parents, my mom, and , his friends and brothers. That's normal. Is it normal that I'm in love with my cousin, while in a loyal relationship with my boyfriend? I am like sooooo confused with myself.

Dasia: I started falling for my cousin when I was 6 and ever since I have been very loving to him. He even loves me back the same way, but he's too scared to try to form a relationship. So now I'm a little heart broken, but at least thanks to Heather I know how to deal with this situation that I'm in.

Gladis: I fell in love with my second cousin i didn't know until after we fell in love then we had to make that decision to stay together or break up eight years later here we are happy and together... love is love.

Isha Ahmad: I'm having a crush on my cousin since when I was just 7 years old and now this has been 7 years. I don't feel anything abnormal about it but it's just that he would never have a crush on me because he studies in the best school where he must be having a girlfriend and also he is the stud of his class. we barely talk now maybe because now we've grown up

Letmein123: @Lily Kay, OMG gurl I feel u I have a step dad and my cousin is from my step dad side of the family so I mean technically I can date him and I think he likes me back too lol #relatable #truestorybro

Zen: I love her since our childhood days, plays, time we used to spend together, things we used to share, minor or major fights between us and then compromising and apologizing, things were going well but suddenly there was a family conflict and we got separated , left with no medium to communicate as she was not on facebook at that time...after 6 years when we meet we become good friends and one day she tells me that she has a boyfriend, I was broken but didn't react negatively instead I cheered her up..all those 6 years I didn't date any girl but when she asked me about my love life I said " yeah I've been with 3-4 girls and got separated " I still don't have a girlfriend its not that I don't want to be with anyone now but I wanna see her

Yusak Handianto: back then when i was in senior high school, i had a crush with my cousin. since it became an uproar in my family, we got separated for around 7 years till i met her again recently, i felt that i'm still loving her that much. is this normal? what should i do? does this mean that she was my first love?

kathy kate: I really fell in love with my cousin i fell stupid to think it because i fell am stubborn to liking my own cousin .. i know my feelings is not natural.. I didnt tell to every body except to my bff.. i want there advice but they didnt know that feelings so!! I always want to spend more time with him.. I want to be his girl friend but i know it will not happen because were cousin's and he is part of my family... NEED ADVICE!!?? :(

Alice: It is not wrong. Cousins can marry . This is a hate filled article.

Jessica: I totally married my second cousin and am due with our baby in a few weeks.

Khadija Fatima: @kathy kate, Listen uk the same thing happened to me..like I like my cousin a lot..and in our family everyone wanted us to get married..when we were really young..and now I'm 16 and he's 18 I reside in Dubai and He resides in New York..we met recently after 11 yrs..and I fell for him..but he didn't

Tyriana Shavon Mitchell: I have had a crush on my cousin since we were kids... our moms were going through some things... so we got separated for about 6 years... we met up again and now I'm like totally in love with him... I don't know if he feels the same way... he says he has a girlfriend... but I don't believe him... Is it weird that I'm like totally in love with him? I've been having dreams about him and everything... and I don't know if this is a sign or not but, he called me " Baby" and he's been " Trying to get in my pants" lately... I don't know what to do... but he acts like a whole different person around his parents, my mom, and , his friends and brothers. That's normal. Is it normal that I'm in love with my cousin, while in a loyal relationship with my boyfriend? I am like sooooo confused with myself.

Dasia: I started falling for my cousin when I was 6 and ever since I have been very loving to him. He even loves me back the same way, but he's too scared to try to form a relationship. So now I'm a little heart broken, but at least thanks to Heather I know how to deal with this situation that I'm in.

Gladis: I fell in love with my second cousin i didn't know until after we fell in love then we had to make that decision to stay together or break up eight years later here we are happy and together... love is love.

Isha Ahmad: I'm having a crush on my cousin since when I was just 7 years old and now this has been 7 years. I don't feel anything abnormal about it but it's just that he would never have a crush on me because he studies in the best school where he must be having a girlfriend and also he is the stud of his class. we barely talk now maybe because now we've grown up

Letmein123: @Lily Kay, OMG gurl I feel u I have a step dad and my cousin is from my step dad side of the family so I mean technically I can date him and I think he likes me back too lol #relatable #truestorybro

Zen: I love her since our childhood days, plays, time we used to spend together, things we used to share, minor or major fights between us and then compromising and apologizing, things were going well but suddenly there was a family conflict and we got separated , left with no medium to communicate as she was not on facebook at that time...after 6 years when we meet we become good friends and one day she tells me that she has a boyfriend, I was broken but didn't react negatively instead I cheered her up..all those 6 years I didn't date any girl but when she asked me about my love life I said " yeah I've been with 3-4 girls and got separated " I still don't have a girlfriend its not that I don't want to be with anyone now but I wanna see her

yusak Handianto: back then when i was in senior high school, i had a crush with my cousin. since it became an uproar in my family, we got separated for around 7 years till i met her again recently, i felt that i'm still loving her that much. is this normal? what should i do? does this mean that she was my first love?

kathy kate: I really fell in love with my cousin i fell stupid to think it because i fell am stubborn to liking my own cousin .. i know my feelings is not natural.. I didnt tell to every body except to my bff.. i want there advice but they didnt know that feelings so!! I always want to spend more time with him.. I want to be his girl friend but i know it will not happen because were cousin's and he is part of my family... NEED ADVICE!!?? :(

Alice: It is not wrong. Cousins can marry . This is a hate filled article.

Jessica: I totally married my second cousin and am due with our baby in a few weeks.

Khadija Fatima: @kathy kate, Listen uk the same thing happened to me..like I like my cousin a lot..and in our family everyone wanted us to get married..when we were really young..and now I'm 16 and he's 18 I reside in Dubai and He resides in New York..we met recently after 11 yrs..and I fell for him..but he didn't

Tyriana Shavon Mitchell: I have had a crush on my cousin since we were kids... our moms were going through some things... so we got separated for about 6 years... we met up again and now I'm like totally in love with him... I don't know if he feels the same way... he says he has a girlfriend... but I don't believe him... Is it weird that I'm like totally in love with him? I've been having dreams about him and everything... and I don't know if this is a sign or not but, he called me " Baby" and he's been " Trying to get in my pants" lately... I don't know what to do... but he acts like a whole different person around his parents, my mom, and , his friends and brothers. That's normal. Is it normal that I'm in love with my cousin, while in a loyal relationship with my boyfriend? I am like sooooo confused with myself.

Dasia: I started falling for my cousin when I was 6 and ever since I have been very loving to him. He even loves me back the same way, but he's too scared to try to form a relationship. So now I'm a little heart broken, but at least thanks to Heather I know how to deal with this situation that I'm in.

Gladis: I fell in love with my second cousin i didn't know until after we fell in love then we had to make that decision to stay together or break up eight years later here we are happy and together... love is love.

Isha Ahmad: I'm having a crush on my cousin since when I was just 7 years old and now this has been 7 years. I don't feel anything abnormal about it but it's just that he would never have a crush on me because he studies in the best school where he must be having a girlfriend and also he is the stud of his class. we barely talk now maybe because now we've grown up

Letmein123: @Lily Kay, OMG gurl I feel u I have a step dad and my cousin is from my step dad side of the family so I mean technically I can date him and I think he likes me back too lol #relatable #truestorybro

Zen: I love her since our childhood days, plays, time we used to spend together, things we used to share, minor or major fights between us and then compromising and apologizing, things were going well but suddenly there was a family conflict and we got separated , left with no medium to communicate as she was not on facebook at that time...after 6 years when we meet we become good friends and one day she tells me that she has a boyfriend, I was broken but didn't react negatively instead I cheered her up..all those 6 years I didn't date any girl but when she asked me about my love life I said " yeah I've been with 3-4 girls and got separated " I still don't have a girlfriend its not that I don't want to be with anyone now but I wanna see her

yusak Handianto: back then when i was in senior nigh school, i had a crush with my cousin. since it became an uproar in my family, we got separated for around 7 years till i met her again recently, i felt that i'm still loving her that much. is this normal? what should i do? does this mean that she was my first love?

kathy kate: I really fell in love with my cousin i fell stupid to think it because i fell iam stubborn to liking my own cousin .. i know my feelings is not natural.. I didnt tell to every body except to my bff.. i want there advice but they didnt know that feelings so!! I always want to spend more time with him.. I want to be his girl friend but i know it will not happen because were cousin's and he is part of my family... NEED ADVICE!!?? :(

Alice: It is not wrong. Cousins can marry . This is a hate filled article.

Jessica: I totally married my second cousin and am due with our baby in a few weeks.

Khadija Fatima: @kathy kate, Listen uk the same thing happened to me..like I like my cousin a lot..and in our family everyone wanted us to get married..when we were really young..and now I'm 16 and he's 18 I reside in Dubai and He resides in New York..we met recently after 11 yrs..and I fell for him..but he didn't

Tyriana Shavon Mitchell: I have had a crush on my cuzin since we were kids... our moms were going through some things... so we're got seperated for about 6 years... we met up again and now I'm like totally in love with him... I dont know if he feels the same way... he says he has a girlfriend... but i dont believe him... Is it weird that im like totally in love with him? Ive been haveing dreams about him and everything... and i dont know if this is a sign or not but, he called me " Baby" and he's been " TRying to get in my pants" lately... i dont know what to do... but he acts like a whole different person around his parents, my mom, and , his friends and brothers. Thats normal. Is it normal that im in love with my cousin, while in a loyal relashionship with my boyfriend? I am like sooooo confused with myself.

Dasia: I started falling for my cousin when I was 6 and ever since I have been very loving to him. He even loves me back the same way, but he's too scared to try to form a relationship. So now I'm a little heart broken, but at least thanks to Heather I know how to deal with this situation that I'm in.

Gladis: I fell in love with my second cousin i didnt know until after we fell in love then we had to make that decision to stay together or break up eight years later here we are happy and together... love is love.

Isha Ahmad: i'm having a crush on my cousin since when i was just 7 years old and now this has been 7 years. i don't feel anything abnormal about it but it's just that he would never have a crush on me because he studies in the best school where he must be having a girlfriend and also he is the stud of his class. we barely talk now maybe because now we've grown up

Letmein123: @Lily Kay, OMG gurl I feel u I have a step dad and my cousin is from my step dad side of the family so I mean technically I can date him and I think he likes me back too lol #relatable #truestorybro

Zen: i love her since our childhood days, plays, time we used to spend together, things we used to share, minor or major fights between us and then compromising and apologizing, things were going well but suddenly there was a family conflict and we got separated , left with no medium to communicate as she was not on facebook at that time...after 6 years when we meet we become good friends and one day she tells me that she has a boyfriend, i was broken but didn't reacted negatively instead i cheered her up..all those 6 years i didn't date any girl but when she asked me about my love life i said " yeah i've been with 3-4 girls and got separated " i still don't have a girlfriend its not that i don't want to be with anyone now but i wanna see her

yusak Handianto: back then when i was in senior high school, i had a crush with my cousin. since it became an uproar in my family, we got separated for around 7 years till i met her again recently, i felt that i'm still loving her that much. is this normal? what should i do? does this mean that she was my first love?

kathy kate: I really fell in love with my cousin i fell stupid to think it because i fell am stubborn to liking my own cousin .. i know my feelings is not natural.. I didnt tell to every body except to my bff.. i want there advice but they didnt know that feelings so!! I always want to spend more time with him.. I want to be his girl friend but i know it will not happen because were cousin's and he is part of my family... NEED ADVICE!!?? :(

Alice: It is not wrong. Cousins can marry . This is a hate filled article.

Jessica: I totally married my second cousin and am due with our baby in a few weeks.

Khadija Fatima: @kathy kate, Listen uk the same thing happened to me..like I like my cousin a lot..and in our family everyone wanted us to get married..when we were really young..and now I'm 16 and he's 18 I reside in Dubai and He resides in New York..we met recently after 11 yrs..and I fell for him..but he didn't

Tyriana Shavon Mitchell: I have had a crush on my cousin since we were kids... our moms were going through some things... so we got separated for about 6 years... we met up again and now I'm like totally in love with him... I don't know if he feels the same way... he says he has a girlfriend... but I don't believe him... Is it weird that I'm like totally in love with him? I've been having dreams about him and everything... and I don't know if this is a sign or not but, he called me " Baby" and he's been " Trying to get in my pants" lately... I don't know what to do... but he acts like a whole different person around his parents, my mom, and , his friends and brothers. That's normal. Is it normal that I'm in love with my cousin, while in a loyal relationship with my boyfriend? I am like sooooo confused with myself.

Dasia: I started falling for my cousin when I was 6 and ever since I have been very loving to him. He even loves me back the same way, but he's too scared to try to form a relationship. So now I'm a little heart broken, but at least thanks to Heather I know how to deal with this situation that I'm in.

Gladis: I fell in love with my second cousin i didn't know until after we fell in love then we had to make that decision to stay together or break up eight years later here we are happy and together... love is love.

Isha Ahmad: I'm having a crush on my cousin since when I was just 7 years old and now this has been 7 years. I don't feel anything abnormal about it but it's just that he would never have a crush on me because he studies in the best school where he must be having a girlfriend and also he is the stud of his class. we barely talk now maybe because now we've grown up

Letmein123: @Lily Kay, OMG gurl I feel u I have a step dad and my cousin is from my step dad side of the family so I mean technically I can date him and I think he likes me back too lol #relatable #truestorybro

Zen: I love her since our childhood days, plays, time we used to spend together, things we used to share, minor or major fights between us and then compromising and apologizing, things were going well but suddenly there was a family conflict and we got separated , left with no medium to communicate as she was not on facebook at that time...after 6 years when we meet we become good friends and one day she tells me that she has a boyfriend, I was broken but didn't react negatively instead I cheered her up..all those 6 years I didn't date any girl but when she asked me about my love life I said " yeah I've been with 3-4 girls and got separated " I still don't have a girlfriend its not that I don't want to be with anyone now but I wanna see her

yusak Handianto: back then when i was in senior high school, i had a crush with my cousin. since it became an uproar in my family, we got separated for around 7 years till i met her again recently, i felt that i'm still loving her that much. is this normal? what should i do? does this mean that she was my first love?

kathy kate: I really fell in love with my cousin i fell stupid to think it because i fell am stubborn to liking my own cousin .. i know my feelings is not natural.. I didnt tell to every body except to my bff.. i want there advice but they didnt know that feelings so!! I always want to spend more time with him.. I want to be his girl friend but i know it will not happen because were cousin's and he is part of my family... NEED ADVICE!!?? :(

Alice: It is not wrong. Cousins can marry . This is a hate filled article.

Jessica: I totally married my second cousin and am due with our baby in a few weeks.

Khadija Fatima: @kathy kate, Listen uk the same thing happened to me..like I like my cousin a lot..and in our family everyone wanted us to get married..when we were really young..and now I'm 16 and he's 18 I reside in Dubai and He resides in New York..we met recently after 11 yrs..and I fell for him..but he didn't

Tyriana Shavon Mitchell: I have had a crush on my cousin since we were kids... our moms were going through some things... so we got separated for about 6 years... we met up again and now I'm like totally in love with him... I don't know if he feels the same way... he says he has a girlfriend... but I don't believe him... Is it weird that I'm like totally in love with him? I've been having dreams about him and everything... and I don't know if this is a sign or not but, he called me " Baby" and he's been " Trying to get in my pants" lately... I don't know what to do... but he acts like a whole different person around his parents, my mom, and , his friends and brothers. That's normal. Is it normal that I'm in love with my cousin, while in a loyal relationship with my boyfriend? I am like sooooo confused with myself.

Dasia: I started falling for my cousin when I was 6 and ever since I have been very loving to him. He even loves me back the same way, but he's too scared to try to form a relationship. So now I'm a little heart broken, but at least thanks to Heather I know how to deal with this situation that I'm in.

Gladis: I fell in love with my second cousin i didn't know until after we fell in love then we had to make that decision to stay together or break up eight years later here we are happy and together... love is love.

Isha Ahmad: I'm having a crush on my cousin since when I was just 7 years old and now this has been 7 years. I don't feel anything abnormal about it but it's just that he would never have a crush on me because he studies in the best school where he must be having a girlfriend and also he is the stud of his class. we barely talk now maybe because now we've grown up

Letmein123: @Lily Kay, OMG gurl I feel u I have a step dad and my cousin is from my step dad side of the family so I mean technically I can date him and I think he likes me back too lol #relatable #truestorybro

Zen: I love her since our childhood days, plays, time we used to spend together, things we used to share, minor or major fights between us and then compromising and apologizing, things were going well but suddenly there was a family conflict and we got separated , left with no medium to communicate as she was not on facebook at that time...after 6 years when we meet we become good friends and one day she tells me that she has a boyfriend, I was broken but didn't react negatively instead I cheered her up..all those 6 years I didn't date any girl but when she asked me about my love life I said " yeah I've been with 3-4 girls and got separated " I still don't have a girlfriend its not that I don't want to be with anyone now but I wanna see her

yusak Handianto: back then when i was in senior high school, i had a crush with my cousin. since it became an uproar in my family, we got separated for around 7 years till i met her again recently, i felt that i'm still loving her that much. is this normal? what should i do? does this mean that she was my first love?

kathy kate: I really fell in love with my cousin i fell stupid to think it because i fell am stubborn to liking my own cousin .. i know my feelings is not natural.. I didnt tell to every body except to my bff.. i want there advice but they didnt know that feelings so!! I always want to spend more time with him.. I want to be his girl friend but i know it will not happen because were cousin's and he is part of my family... NEED ADVICE!!?? :(

Alice: It is not wrong. Cousins can marry . This is a hate filled article.

Jessica: I totally married my second cousin and am due with our baby in a few weeks.

Khadija Fatima: @kathy kate, Listen uk the same thing happened to me..like I like my cousin a lot..and in our family everyone wanted us to get married..when we were really young..and now I'm 16 and he's 18 I reside in Dubai and He resides in New York..we met recently after 11 yrs..and I fell for him..but he didn't

Tyriana Shavon Mitchell: I have had a crush on my cousin since we were kids... our moms were going through some things... so we got separated for about 6 years... we met up again and now I'm like totally in love with him... I don't know if he feels the same way... he says he has a girlfriend... but I don't believe him... Is it weird that I'm like totally in love with him? I've been having dreams about him and everything... and I don't know if this is a sign or not but, he called me " Baby" and he's been " Trying to get in my pants" lately... I don't know what to do... but he acts like a whole different person around his parents, my mom, and , his friends and brothers. That's normal. Is it normal that I'm in love with my cousin, while in a loyal relationship with my boyfriend? I am like sooooo confused with myself.

Dasia: I started falling for my cousin when I was 6 and ever since I have been very loving to him. He even loves me back the same way, but he's too scared to try to form a relationship. So now I'm a little heart broken, but at least thanks to Heather I know how to deal with this situation that I'm in.

Gladis: I fell in love with my second cousin i didn't know until after we fell in love then we had to make that decision to stay together or break up eight years later here we are happy and together... love is love.

Isha Ahmad: I'm having a crush on my cousin since when I was just 7 years old and now this has been 7 years. I don't feel anything abnormal about it but it's just that he would never have a crush on me because he studies in the best school where he must be having a girlfriend and also he is the stud of his class. we barely talk now maybe because now we've grown up

Letmein123: @Lily Kay, OMG gurl I feel u I have a step dad and my cousin is from my step dad side of the family so I mean technically I can date him and I think he likes me back too lol #relatable #truestorybro

Zen: I love her since our childhood days, plays, time we used to spend together, things we used to share, minor or major fights between us and then compromising and apologizing, things were going well but suddenly there was a family conflict and we got separated , left with no medium to communicate as she was not on facebook at that time...after 6 years when we meet we become good friends and one day she tells me that she has a boyfriend, I was broken but didn't react negatively instead I cheered her up..all those 6 years I didn't date any girl but when she asked me about my love life I said " yeah I've been with 3-4 girls and got separated " I still don't have a girlfriend its not that I don't want to be with anyone now but I wanna see her

Yusak Handianto: back then when i was in senior high school, i had a crush with my cousin. since it became an uproar in my family, we got separated for around 7 years till i met her again recently, i felt that i'm still loving her that much. is this normal? what should i do? does this mean that she was my first love?

kathy kate: I really fell in love with my cousin i fell stupid to think it because i fell am stubborn to liking my own cousin .. i know my feelings is not natural.. I didnt tell to every body except to my bff.. i want there advice but they didnt know that feelings so!! I always want to spend more time with him.. I want to be his girl friend but i know it will not happen because were cousin's and he is part of my family... NEED ADVICE!!?? :(

Alice: It is not wrong. Cousins can marry . This is a hate filled article.

Jessica: I totally married my second cousin and am due with our baby in a few weeks.

Khadija Fatima: @kathy kate, Listen uk the same thing happened to me..like I like my cousin a lot..and in our family everyone wanted us to get married..when we were really young..and now I'm 16 and he's 18 I reside in Dubai and He resides in New York..we met recently after 11 yrs..and I fell for him..but he didn't

Tyriana Shavon Mitchell: I have had a crush on my cousin since we were kids... our moms were going through some things... so we got separated for about 6 years... we met up again and now I'm like totally in love with him... I don't know if he feels the same way... he says he has a girlfriend... but I don't believe him... Is it weird that I'm like totally in love with him? I've been having dreams about him and everything... and I don't know if this is a sign or not but, he called me " Baby" and he's been " Trying to get in my pants" lately... I don't know what to do... but he acts like a whole different person around his parents, my mom, and , his friends and brothers. That's normal. Is it normal that I'm in love with my cousin, while in a loyal relationship with my boyfriend? I am like sooooo confused with myself.

Dasia: I started falling for my cousin when I was 6 and ever since I have been very loving to him. He even loves me back the same way, but he's too scared to try to form a relationship. So now I'm a little heart broken, but at least thanks to Heather I know how to deal with this situation that I'm in.

Gladis: I fell in love with my second cousin i didn't know until after we fell in love then we had to make that decision to stay together or break up eight years later here we are happy and together... love is love.

Isha Ahmad: I'm having a crush on my cousin since when I was just 7 years old and now this has been 7 years. I don't feel anything abnormal about it but it's just that he would never have a crush on me because he studies in the best school where he must be having a girlfriend and also he is the stud of his class. we barely talk now maybe because now we've grown up

Letmein123: @Lily Kay, OMG gurl I feel u I have a step dad and my cousin is from my step dad side of the family so I mean technically I can date him and I think he likes me back too lol #relatable #truestorybro

Zen: I love her since our childhood days, plays, time we used to spend together, things we used to share, minor or major fights between us and then compromising and apologizing, things were going well but suddenly there was a family conflict and we got separated , left with no medium to communicate as she was not on facebook at that time...after 6 years when we meet we become good friends and one day she tells me that she has a boyfriend, I was broken but didn't react negatively instead I cheered her up..all those 6 years I didn't date any girl but when she asked me about my love life I said " yeah I've been with 3-4 girls and got separated " I still don't have a girlfriend its not that I don't want to be with anyone now but I wanna see her

yusak Handianto: back then when i was in senior high school, i had a crush with my cousin. since it became an uproar in my family, we got separated for around 7 years till i met her again recently, i felt that i'm still loving her that much. is this normal? what should i do? does this mean that she was my first love?

kathy kate: I really fell in love with my cousin i fell stupid to think it because i fell am stubborn to liking my own cousin .. i know my feelings is not natural.. I didnt tell to every body except to my bff.. i want there advice but they didnt know that feelings so!! I always want to spend more time with him.. I want to be his girl friend but i know it will not happen because were cousin's and he is part of my family... NEED ADVICE!!?? :(

Alice: It is not wrong. Cousins can marry . This is a hate filled article.

Jessica: I totally married my second cousin and am due with our baby in a few weeks.

Khadija Fatima: @kathy kate, Listen uk the same thing happened to me..like I like my cousin a lot..and in our family everyone wanted us to get married..when we were really young..and now I'm 16 and he's 18 I reside in Dubai and He resides in New York..we met recently after 11 yrs..and I fell for him..but he didn't

Tyriana Shavon Mitchell: I have had a crush on my cousin since we were kids... our moms were going through some things... so we got separated for about 6 years... we met up again and now I'm like totally in love with him... I don't know if he feels the same way... he says he has a girlfriend... but I don't believe him... Is it weird that I'm like totally in love with him? I've been having dreams about him and everything... and I don't know if this is a sign or not but, he called me " Baby" and he's been " Trying to get in my pants" lately... I don't know what to do... but he acts like a whole different person around his parents, my mom, and , his friends and brothers. That's normal. Is it normal that I'm in love with my cousin, while in a loyal relationship with my boyfriend? I am like sooooo confused with myself.

Dasia: I started falling for my cousin when I was 6 and ever since I have been very loving to him. He even loves me back the same way, but he's too scared to try to form a relationship. So now I'm a little heart broken, but at least thanks to Heather I know how to deal with this situation that I'm in.

Gladis: I fell in love with my second cousin i didn't know until after we fell in love then we had to make that decision to stay together or break up eight years later here we are happy and together... love is love.

Isha Ahmad: I'm having a crush on my cousin since when I was just 7 years old and now this has been 7 years. I don't feel anything abnormal about it but it's just that he would never have a crush on me because he studies in the best school where he must be having a girlfriend and also he is the stud of his class. we barely talk now maybe because now we've grown up

Letmein123: @Lily Kay, OMG gurl I feel u I have a step dad and my cousin is from my step dad side of the family so I mean technically I can date him and I think he likes me back too lol #relatable #truestorybro

Zen: I love her since our childhood days, plays, time we used to spend together, things we used to share, minor or major fights between us and then compromising and apologizing, things were going well but suddenly there was a family conflict and we got separated , left with no medium to communicate as she was not on facebook at that time...after 6 years when we meet we become good friends and one day she tells me that she has a boyfriend, I was broken but didn't react negatively instead I cheered her up..all those 6 years I didn't date any girl but when she asked me about my love life I said " yeah I've been with 3-4 girls and got separated " I still don't have a girlfriend its not that I don't want to be with anyone now but I wanna see her